DRAG FORTH SECRETS IN POLITICAL PARTIES

Witnesses Tell of Alleged Deals Made by Some Close to 'Insiders'

By KENNETH CLARK
For International News Service

WASHINGTON, March 19.—Senate oil investigators went into both Republican and Democratic closets today and rattled some political skeletons.

Tiffin Gilmore of Columbus, Ohio, told the committee certain oil interests, which he was unable to name, approached General Leonard Wood during the Chicago convention and offered to support him if he would agree to appoint "an oil man" Secretary of the Interior, an offer which Wood termed "shady" and turned down.

Veiled Inference

Gilmore left the witness stand with the veiled inference that an offer of similar nature was made to the Harding managers and described a conversation he had with Carmi Thompson, one of the Harding lieutenants, on a train returning from Chicago. A subpoena was immediately issued for Thompson.

From Colonel "Tom" Darden, a friend of Harding and of Attorney-General Daugherty, the committee learned interesting details of his claims to Teapot Dome and in the Salt Creek fields. Darden said he and his associates entered the Teapot Dome and Salt Creek leases in the closing days of the Wilson administration, being aided in this respect by "President Wilson's brother."

Financial Inquiry

Darden related intimate conversations he had with President Harding and Attorney-General Daugherty concerning his leases, the validity of which was questioned by ex-Secretary Albert B.

Suspected Auto Thief Uses Gun as Deputy Sheriff Unlocks Jail Door

WILLITS, Cal., March 19.—Three posses are searching for a man who shot and seriously wounded Deputy Sheriff Thomas Wilkinson today while the officer was unlocking the town jail to place him in a cell.

The officer had arrested the man in an automobile as a suspected auto thief wanted in Eureka. The man drew a gun while the officer was opening the jail door and shot him through the groin.

The man fled as the officer fell and made his escape into the brush on the outskirts of town. Sheriff Ralph Byrne of Ukiah, Sheriff John M. Boyes of Santa Rosa and Constable J. B. Whitcomb all organized posses to join in a man hunt for the officer's assailant.

Aged Man Burned In Efford to Save Friend From Fire

PORTLAND, Ore., March 19.—Charles P. Church, 79, formerly a wealthy wheat buyer, was burned to death in a misguided but heroic effort to rescue Gus Purrin, with whom he lived near here early today.

Church and Purrin lived in separate rooms on the second floor of a dwelling which caught fire. Purrin got out of the building, but Church, in his anxiety for the safety of his companion, was trapped by the flames in Purrin's room. The fire destroyed three homes.

Mrs. Church is in Los Angeles with her two daughters.

MUST STAND TRIAL FOR SHOOTING

Clubman Admits He Cannot Recall Details Because Of Intoxication

LOS ANGELES, March 19.—Horace Greer, chauffeur for Mabel Normand, charged with having shot and wounded Courtland S. Dines, wealthy Denver clubman, was held to answer to the superior court today by Justice Walter Hanby, after Greer's preliminary hearing was completed.

The chief witness at today's hearing was Dines, who admitted on the witness stand that his mind was too befuddled by drinking at the time of the shooting to remember what happened when he was shot.

"Thunders of Silence"

CHICAGO, March 19.—Mabel Normand, central figure in the Dines-Greer shooting some months ago, arrived in Chicago today and was met by echoing silence.

The club women before whom she was to stand "trial" to determine whether her part in the shooting made her persona non grata in Illinois motion picture theatres failed to show. An explanation was sought and found at the Federation of Women's club headquarters—the women had changed their minds.

FIVE KILLED AS DIRIGIBLE BURNS

Japanese Naval Blimp SS-3 Bursts In Flames Near End of Flight

TOKIO, March 19.—Five men aboard the SS-3, the latest type of Japanese "blimp" dirigible airship, burned to death when the big airship burst into flames while in mid-air and fell to the earth. The cause of the disaster has not been ascertained. A naval investigation board has proceeded to the scene.

The great naval blimp left Kasumigaura this morning and after floating over this city and being admired by thousands, proceeded southward.

At 2 o'clock this afternoon the great airship was observed to burst into flames as it was nearing its base and a few minutes later it crashed at Kasumigaura.

COL. FORBES NOT GUILTY IS PLEA

Former Chief of Veterans' Bureau, J. W. Thompson Deny Allegations

CHICAGO, March 19.—Pleas of not guilty to the conspiracy charges against them were entered in federal court here today by Colonel Charles R. Forbes, former director of the Veterans' Bureau, and John W. Thompson, St. Louis contractor, indicted by a grand jury which investigated alleged irregularities in the bureau.

Permission to file demurrers to the charges were requested by Forbes' counsel immediately after the plea.

Attorneys for Thompson asked permission to petition for a quashing of indictments against him.

Present Claims

In their petition, counsel for Thompson set forth claims that the presentation of evidence against his client before the grand jury was misleading and unfair, in that Thompson was not permitted to testify concerning the records and accounts of his firm, the Thompson-Black company.

Thompson's attorney claimed that because of the manner in which the evidence was presented, "it apparently pointed to Mr. Thompson's guilt, whereas, had the records been fully offered into the evidence and explained, our client never would have been indicted."

The court granted Forbes' counsel two weeks to prepare and file their demurrers.

The petition of Thompson's attorneys was admitted and two weeks granted "to prepare any additional motion they may decide upon."

CITY'S FLOOD ALLOTMENT $450,000

Glendale Gets Substantial Increase In Proposed County Bond Issue

The recommendation of J. W. Reagan, county flood control engineer, that of the $32,000,000 bond issue to be voted on at the primary election May 6, Glendale be alloted $450,000, was adopted yesterday afternoon by the board of supervisors of Los Angeles county.

His report as originally prepared allowed $150,000 for Verdugo wash and nothing for Sycamore canyon. Following protests made to him on the inadequacy of this appropriation, Mr. Reagan tripled the amonut, which went through with his final schedule.

Additional Funds

At noon today City Manager Stone phoned from Los Angeles that the bond issue would include $100,000 for Pickens canyon and $150,000 for Dunsmuir canyon. This includes the small canyons in between and really makes the total available for the Glendale district $700,000.

Construction of dams in these canyons prevents flood waters from coming into Glendale and will provide further storage facilities.

Wins for Glendale

Should the bond issue carry, this money will be sufficient to carry out local flood control plans, said V. B. Stone, city manager, this morning. He had asked for over a million dollars, he stated as he knew to get anywhere near what was required he must ask for more than he possibly expect to get. The aid of Supervisor Henry Wright was enlisted, and as a result Glendale gets the largest flood control appropriation in the list.

The bulk of the money to be realized from the bonds goes for water conservation and not flood control, according to Mr. Stone. The proposed San Gabriel reservoir will cost $25,000,000, the Pacoima reservoir $1,720,000 and the Big Tujunga reservoir $1,600,000. Of the money alloted for flood control work, Glendale re-

SEEKS TO REGAIN POLITICAL PLACE

Winston Churchill In Third Race for Election to British Commons

LONDON, March 19.—Winston Spencer Churchill, once a fixture in the British government, and one of the stormy petrels of British politics, is today making his third attempt within eighteen months to gain a seat in the House of Commons. Churchill is standing for election in the Westminster division.

The polling was lively and there were many fights. By mid-afternoon it appeared that the battle had simmered down to a contest between Churchill and A. Fenner Brockway, the labor candidate. Westminster is a Tory stronghold.

Churchill ran as an independent and anti-laborite. There were two other candidates—Otto Nicholson, a Tory, and Scott Duckers, a liberal.

SAN FRANCISCO, March 19.—Improvement of personnel, heightening of morale, and maintenance of equipment to the full strength of the four-power treaty are the policies which will guide him in his administration, Secretary of the Navy Curtis D. Wilbur told International News Service here today in an exclusive interview.

"An absolutely first-class navy will be my goal," he declared in discussing for the first time his beliefs and ideas as to the United States navy since his elevation from the position of chief justice of the California supreme court to the cabinet post.

"In the first place I am interested in the personnel of the navy—from seamen to admiral," said the new navy chief. "If the personnel can be improved that will be my principal task.

"Secondly, I believe the morale of the navy should be of the highest. This is essential to the service.

"Thirdly, to have a first-class navy, we must have the very highest type of equipment. I shall strive to see that the strength of the navy is maintained to the full strength as agreed upon in the four-power pact, and, too, it must be efficiently maintained."

Social Events

End Year's Work

The regular monthly meeting of the women's societies of the First Presbyterian church held Tuesday was of unusual importance, being featured by formal installation of newly-elected officers, marking the beginning of work for another year.

The Missionary department met at 10:30 o'clock, Mrs. George McDill presiding. Reports of the year's work were made by all chairmen of standing committees and secretaries of different departments. The financial report by the treasurer, Mrs. D. B. Pingree, showed the sum of $2,354.56 had been raised during the year and $2,323.37 had been expended for benevolences and missionary work.

The apportionment for this church, $1,700 for the past year, has been raised to $2,000 for the coming year.

A decision was made to send the sum remaining in the treasury to the mission board to be applied to help make up the deficit in the expenses in the foreign field, which have been increased by the high cost of living in foreign lands, and will mean a decrease of twenty per cent in the foreign work unless the deficit is met by the home church workers.

Devotionals were led by Mrs. John Horsch.

Mrs. W. P. Wilkins, of Circle one, was chairman of the program.

Formal installation of the new officers took place at 12 o'clock, with Rev. W. E. Edmonds, pastor, as installing officer.

Luncheon was served at 1 o'clock by the members of Circle seven, of which Mrs. Berry is chairman.

At the special guest table were seated Rev. and Mrs. Edmonds. Mrs. Terry, Rev. White and the outgoing and newly-installed presidents.

At the close of the luncheon hour, the outgoing presidents, Mrs. George McDill, Mrs. J. A. Newton and Mrs. J. J. Davis, were each the recipient of a beautiful basket of flowers, a gift from the organization, the presentation being made by the new presidents. One basket was filled with choice carnations, one with jonquils and the third with sweetpeas.

A delightful surprise occurred during the business meeting when a handsome reed chair was delivered, for the parlor, bearing the names of the donors, George McDill and W. A. Horn.

In deference to the services being held in the auditorium by Dr. William Evans, the usual afternoon session was omitted and the meeting adjourned at 1:30 o'clock.

New officers installed were: President of Women's society, Mrs. J. M. Everick; first vice-president, Mrs. J. A. Newton; second vice-president, Mrs. O. A. Danielson; secretary, Mrs. J. S. Helffrich; treasurer, Mrs. A. D. McCoy; hospital secretary, Mrs. R. Isitt.

Studio Affair

St. Patrick had his full tribute Monday night when Miss Hazel Campbell, well known Glendale artist, entertained about forty friends from Glendale, Hollywood and Los Angeles, at her home, 1412 South Brand boulevard.

A very clever one act play "The Workhouse Ward" (Gregory) was given, with Miss Campbell as "Mike Miskell," assisted by Miss Josephine Doherty as "Mike McInerney" and Miss May Lahey as "Mrs. Donohue," both of Los Angeles. It was a splendid character sketch and displayed the versatility of the hostess who has had professional experience before opening her studio in Glendale.

A piano number by Miss Bates "Prelude in C sharp Minor" (Rackmoninoff) and vocal numbers by Leonard Lamont accompanied by Miss Bates, opened the delightful program. Mr. Lamont gave two groups which included "Mother Machree" and other Irish melodies.

Mrs. Ursula E. Fittinger, a talented Glendale musician, who is connected with Miss Campbell's studio, presented a pupil, little Miss R'ella Johnson, eight years old, who gave "Home Sweet Home with Variations" in a very creditable manner. Mrs. Fittinger gave two violin numbers, her encore being a pleasing arrangement of "My Wild Irish Rose."

Delicious refreshments of fruit punch and little shamrock cakes and green and white "sweets" were served following the program. Miss Campbell was assisted by her mother and sister Mrs. Carrie Campbell and Miss Garnett Campbell.

SOBS OUT STORY OF WIFE MURDER

Janssen's Iron Nerve Cracks At Sight of Battered Body of Mate

DENVER, March 19.—Greed for gold—the theft of his wife's lifetime savings, according to police, was the motive which led Fred Janssen into the shadow of the hangman's noose, for the brutal murder of his wife last Thursday night.

Impressive, stoical, displaying but little interest in the efforts of those around him to clear up the murder and without the least bit of emotion, Janssen, until this morning, was truly a mystery man. But the sight of his wife, cold in death, whose broken body he said he stuffed in a little trunk, after brutally beating her down with a hammer, then choking her for twenty minutes, snapped the thread which enabled him to withstand hours of third degree grilling, and he sobbed out what officers believe is the true confession of his crime.

"It was a hammer," he said, "an ordinary hammer. I hit her while she was saying her rosary—praying—praying for the people."

DARING FLIER SAVES GIRL HANGING IN MIDAIR

Chorus Girl Tries Parachute Jump But Rope Catches On Plane

HOUSTON, Texas, March 19.—Rosalee Gordon, 21, and pretty, is recovering from the shock of being forced to play the leading role in one of the most thrilling dramas ever enacted.

She was snatched from death in midair.

Rosalee, a chorus girl, wanted Houston to know her name better. As a publicity stunt, she volunteered to jump with a parachute from a plane soaring 5,000 feet, at an aerial circus here.

She has resolved to stick to the convntional stolen jewel stories of actresses from now on.

A moment after she bravely made the leap, she found herself dangling hopeless in midair, swaying wildly and perilously in the fierce wind. Her hundred and a few pounds had not been sufficiently heavy to release the parachute from the plane.

There were two men in the plane, the pilot and a passenger. Neither could aid her. And they could not land with Rosalee dangling below.

Hundreds on the field below saw the girl dancing madly in space, but only a few of them could guess why.

Freddy Lund, commercial aviator, sensed her danger. He leaped into a plane with another airman and they fought their way into the skies. Precious moments were lost in making the other pilot understand what they were trying to do.

Lund's plane crossed the other. He leaped.

The gaping throngs below gasped. From the ground it looked as if the daring flier would never set foot on the other machine. But he did.

Slowly and laboriously he worked his way to the lower wing from above.

Somehow he managed to get the line upon which the girl was dangling in a position for it to be grasped by the others in the plane. Then the three of them battled with the wind to pull the girl into the machine.

At last she was back on the wing, unharmed, but on the verge of hysterics.

She felt the full reaction of her harrowing experience when she was back on the ground. Shock sent her to bed.

Man-Eating Eels Are Seen at Long Beach

LONG BEACH, Mar. 19.—Four man-eating eels, having cobra heads and sharp fangs, were among a collection of live Hawaiian sea creatures brought to B. F. Simonds of this city.

The eels are very ferocious and will snap at anything held within a few feet of their tank. Live food caught in their jaws is held by the sharp teeth while the blood is sucked out, according to the steamship officials. Black-eyed goldfish and rainbow-hued denizens of tropic waters also were bronght from Hawaii. The fish are kept in a tank of water, the temperature of which is consistently maintained at 72 degrees.

Chiefs Hear Talk on Fire Prevention at Meet In Los Angeles

Fire Chief A. H. Lankford of Glendale attended a meeting in Los Angeles yesterday, attended by fire chiefs from Southern California, called by Jay W. Stevens, state fire marshal.

The moning session was devoted to talking over fire prevention. At noon Mayor Cryer of Los Angeles presided at a luncheon given in Mr. Stevens' honor, and in the afternoon different chemicals and methods of fighting fires were tried out.

Chief Lankford was sworn in as deputy state fire marshal during the day, which gives him full power to direct the fight against any brush fires that may be reported in the vicinity of Glendale.

ALL SERENE AT SARASOTA NOW

Newspapermen and Baseball Players Quit Their Awful Wails

NEW YORK, March 19.—All is again serene in the circus man's town of Sarasota, Fla., following first reports, plaintive and distrait, to the effect that it was an excellent spot for elephants, bearded ladies and sword swallowers, but utterly without compatibility as a training camp for the New York Giants. This was the burden of the original complaint, wafted northward by critical gentlemen of the press, but now everything seems to be Jacob between native and Northerner and they are living in peace instead of in pieces.

John McGraw recently arrived in the Florida resort to assume all responsibility for conditions as was. Thereupon the disturbance was quelled, but not before mutual recriminations were exchanged. Sans adequate accommodations, the first detachment of Giants conceived no staunch liking for Sarasota at first blush and after their stories had bounded back, via the mails, the feeling was mutual as far as the town was concerned.

The malcontents were informed that it was the height of bad taste to mention the fact that rain fell or that accommodations did not accommodate. That kind of stuff was most unseemly, coming from guests, it was intimated.

In the midst of the excitement John Ringling, who had enticed McGraw toward Sarasota, steamed into town with blood in his eye and many words upon his slick city tongue. He asked the boys to cease firing with great rapidity, and, beyond the rumor that the Ku Klux Klan staged a demonstration in their honor, nothing further developed until McGraw arrived to declare peace.

The great and abiding trouble with the whole proposition was the glowing nature of the original prospectus, which was all for dropping the Giants into a mundane paradise. They were to have a private hotel, private tennis and handball courts, private bathing beach and private whatnot. There are such things at Sarasota, but the Giants got none of them, and when adverse stories drifted over the wires even the town's private opinion of captious ball players and newspapermen was speedily made public.

Servant Held Job In Family for 82 Years

MILFORD, Conn., March 19.—There was no servant problem in the home of Miss C. G. Carrington, a wealthy local resident, these many years until death interfered and took away Miss Anna Jeffrey, who for 82 years had served in the household. Back in 1822 Nelson Carrington took little Anna Jeffrey, then 7, into his household and trained her in the arts of serving. When Miss Jeffrey died she was the oldest resident of Milford and the oldest member of the Congregational church here, and nearly the entire town followed her body to its resting place. In addition to her house duties, Miss Jeffrey had been active in charitable work.

Quite a contingent from Burbank also will attend, it is said, and a special train is leaving Los Angeles tonight to accommodate those not going by motor.

Tomorrow's luncheon of the Rotary club will be in charge of W. E. Hewitt, chairman of the entertainment committee. A. K. Warren, senior engineer of sanitation for Los Angeles county, will be the principal speaker.

Negress to Serve Life Term for Petty Theft

ST. LOUIS, March 19.—A hold-up in which $23 was obtained netted one of the participators life imprisonment.

This, it was conceded by court attaches, was the most severe punishment for robbery ever inflicted in the state of Missouri.

The prisoner who was crushed by the judicial storm was Maggie Macon, 30, a negress.

The woman was found guilty by a jury in Circuit Judge Ittner's court of having helped a negro hold up George Ramspott.

The Missouri statute fixes no maximum sentence for robbery. Life imprisonment was imposed on the woman by Judge Ittner when the woman's record disclosed that she was an habitual criminal, having served several prison terms.

ENGLISH ROW ON OIL ECHOES U. S.

Labor Government Under Fire for Retaining Holdings in Anglo-Persian Co.

By DAVID M. CHURCH

For International News Service.

LONDON, Mar. 19.—Announcement of its intention to retain the government's holdings in the Anglo-Persian Oil Company has precipitated a controversy echoing in intensity the U. S. senate committee's investigation of the Teapot Dome transactions—although the British situation is the direct antithesis of the American row.

The government's decision to retain these holdings was reached after months of negotiations for their sale to private interests, and though announced by the Labor government is understood to be the policy adopted by the preceding Conservative government of Stanley Baldwin and to have been merely confirmed by the MacDonald government.

The Burmah Oil Company has issued a stinging statement charging that the government's decision is not in the national interests, and the controversy promises to run for weeks.

Shows Careful Plan

The statement made by the Burmah company seems to make it evident that, in seeking to purchase the governmental holdings in the Anglo-Persian Oil Company, there was a plan afoot to secure predominant British control of a new group consisting of Burmah, Shell and Royal-Dutch companies. This, it is contended, would have secured Great Britain complete control of important oil resources at all times and removed the dependence of the British navy upon the oil fields of Central Asia.

The navy was undoubtedly the determining factor in the government's decision to retain its Anglo-Persian holdings. The British navy runs on oil, and its oil supplies in times of war must be protected if it is to protect the British Isles. A majority of British shareholders, represented by a majority of British directors on the board of the new group, probably would not be able to guarantee oil supplies from foreign countries in time of war. Moreover, some of the fields controlled by the proposed new group are not strategically placed and might easily be rendered unavailable in time of war.

At Navy's Disposal

Under the present conditions the British admiralty has a contract under which a great portion of the output of the Anglo-Persian is at the disposal of the navy at very favorable terms. Undoubtedly the admiralty had no inclination to let this contract go by the board and run the risk of seeking a new contract with a new group.

Oil shareholders are decidedly dissatisfied with the government's action, but so long as it can rest upon the plea of imperial defense there is little possibility of any reversal of the decision.

Preacher Raps Dual Morality Standards

COLUMBUS, Mar. 19.—"There are not two moral standards, one for man and another for women," declared Rev. Daniel F. Rittenhouse, pastor of the First Baptist church here. He asserted that "modern society must completely reverse its judgment about the woman who has fallen.

"False, indeed, is that judgment which brands a woman as fallen and beyond recovery and beyond community respect, while at the same time her masculine accomplice floats about the neighborhood as a gentleman," said Rev. Rittenhouse.

Some public schools of the Pacific Coast open their Fall session late in July.

Plan Fine Structures To Adorn Yale Campus

NEW HAVEN, Conn., Mar. 19.—From a scattered and haphazard series of buildings, Yale university is to be molded into "a consistent and harmonious, handsome architectural group," according to announcement made here of Yale's architectural plans intended to cover her requirements for a century to come. "Two of the noblest architectural vistas to be found in America" are to result from the new development, which involves expenditures of an untold amount of money and changes that will make the average Yale graduate gasp when he sees the result.

Erection of a huge Sterling memorial library to house Yale's millions of books, remodeling and extension of the great Berkeley, Haughton and Lampson group of dormitories and creation of a cross campus are involved in the plan. The cross campus, extending from College to York street, will cross the present Blount avenue, or "Grub street," which leads to Yale commons, and will be flanked with dormitories to form a new center for the university.

The new Yale plant will be flanked on the west by Harkness memorial, a $7,000,000 group, now in existence, and the Sterling library; on the south by old Yale campus; on the east by College street, with dormitories, and on the north by Woolsey hall and Yale commons, as well as new dormitories along Grove street.

New Secret Wireless Outfit Is Invented

BIRMINGHAM, March 19.—Secret wireless telephony was brought within the bounds of possibility by an invention that just passed official tests here.

Stated to be of simple construction, the invention can be fitted to any existing receiving set.

In the tests it was found possible to receive on one aerial and one receiver messages made up of two, three, or any number of different wave-lengths intermingled, under the desired conditions.

Many English stations were heard broadcasting simultaneously, and individual stations were tuned in or out at will, while the strength of reception was also varied at will.

The adaptability of the invention for the transmission of secret messages is obvious. If four different wave-lengths were decided on for the transmission of a message the first five words could be transmitted on one wave-length, the second five on a higher wave, the third on a lower and the fourth on a wave-length out of all proportion to the other three, which would render it impossible for the message to be picked up intact by anyone without knowing the various wave-lengths.

Denverite Has Watch Worn by Robt. E. Lee

DENVER, March 19.—An old coin-silver watch, weighing about half a pound, which was carried through the Civil war by General Robert E. Lee, commander-in-chief of the Confederate army, came to light in Denver recently.

The watch is of the old-time key-winding type, with the hunting case embossed and the name "Robert E. Lee" engraved on the works.

It is now the property of Mrs. Gladys Roberts Massey, who lives near Fort Logan, on the outskirts of Denver.

Mrs. Massey declared the watch was presented by Lee to a private in the Confederate army for some act of bravery and came into the possession of her grandfather, William Roberts, who lived near Macon, Ga.

British Radicals Are Meeting in Church

LONDON, March 19.—The red flag has made its appearance in the City Temple, one of London's famous Nonconformist churches.

Unemployed were given the church for demonstration against lack of action in their behalf by the government, and they marched into the church, headed by a band of pipers, waving the red flag.

Rev. Dr. Norwood, pastor of the church, said:

"I hope you will realize that you have in the present crisis the sympathy and earnest heart-searching of at least a very large section of the church-going people."

"It isn't the people who have deserted the church, it's the church that has deserted the people, declared H. E. Martin, secretary of the National Unemployed.

While the meeting was going on there was considerable noise in the galleries.

Turkish Women Want More Modern Laws

CONSTANTINOPLE, March 11.—Turkish women are agitating for the same rights possessed by women of other countries.

At a largely attended meeting of women of the educated class held in this city to discuss women's rights in family life a general desire to end the practice of polygamy was expressed.

The meeting passed resolutions demanding that laws regulating marriages, divorces and polygamy on modern lines should be framed, and a committee was formed to draft the reforms.

"Polygamy, which is authorized by our present laws, is a relic of past ages," said one speaker. "We must break with this tradition, which, in any event, has not been practiced for the last twenty years."

The authorities are said to be sympathetically inclined toward the women's demands.

Fear Alcohol May Blow Up Building

SYRACUSE, March 19.—Thousands of gallons of alcohol, capable of blowing the building to atoms, are stored in the basement of the Syracuse postoffice, imperiling the lives of more than 500 persons employed in the postoffice and neighboring buildings.

This alleged condition was brought to the notice of Patrick H. O'Hara, chief of the fire prevention bureau, by Professor Ernest N. Pattee, head of the department of chemistry at Syracuse university, who said that if a single spark came into contact with the alcohol it would precipitate a terrible explosion. Chief O'Hara will make a rigid inspection, and it is expected the liquor will be removed.

Germany 1923 Leader in New Shipbuilding

LONDON, Mar. 19.—Germany was the world's greatest shipbuilder in 1923, according to Lloyd's Register, England, for years the leader in this industry, turned out only 648,000 tons of shipping during the year, although her capacity is 3,000,000 tons. The British 1921 output was 1,000,000 tons under 1920.

Government restrictions, lack of orders from German operators, the failure of British shipowners to place new orders, and competition of France with cheap Ruhr steel are blamed for the slump.

Demand for a chocolate and ice cream dainty is a principal cause for the rise in the price of the cocoa bean, from which chocolate is made, say investigators.

A health hint for Spring—

use ice EVERY day

Spring weather is fickle. It's a good time to guard against little ills that often turn out seriously. Watch your food! There's no better health insurance than good pure food. And there's no better food insurance than the regular use of ice—every day. It keeps foods always fresh and wholesome—free from the dangers of changing temperatures.

Pastor Parmele Tells of Enthusiastic Meeting Of Denomination

Leaders of the Seventh Day Adventists, meeting at Fresno in the annual session of the Pacific Union conference, yesterday re-elected Elder J. L. McElhany of Glendale as president for the ensuing year, after one of the most successful meetings in the history of the denomination. B. M. Emerson of Glendale was also re-elected secretary-treasurer, and F. T. Oakes of Lodi, formerly manager of the Lodi academy, was chosen auditor to succeed T. L Copeland, who will assume duties at the Glendale Sanitarium and Hospital.

Reports of the conference were brought to Glendale this morning by Elder R. W. Parmele, pastor of the Glendale Seventh Day Adventist church, who, with Elder W. M. Adams, president of the Southern California conference, and James Howarth of this city, returned before the final session of the Fresno meeting, which terminated at noon today.

Secretaries Named

Departmental secretaries for the union conference, who were elected were: W. F. Martin of Glendale, religious liberty; F. E. Painter of Glendale, field missionary; David Voth of Glendale, home missionary; W. W. Ruble of Glendale, education. A. W. Peterson, missionary volunteer. Mr. Peterson, formerly of Oklahoma City, will shortly locate in Glendale.

The executive committee, which includes the heads of the eight conferences, is headed by Elder J. L. McElhany, with Elders E. W. Farnsworth, Glendale; clarence Santee, Lodi; W. M. Adams, Eagle Rock; J. J. Nethery, Riverside; G. A. Roberts, Oakland; E. L. Neff, Fresno; A. R. Sanborn, Phoenix, Ariz.; N. P. Neilson, Salt Lake City, Utah; V. E. Peugh, Nevada; W. F. Martin, W. W. Ruble, F. E. Painter, David Voth, G. W. Reasor, all of Glendale, and B M. Emerson, Glendale; C. H. Jones, manager of the Pacific Press Publishing association, Mountain View; Prof. W. E. Nelson, president of the Pacific Union college, St. Helena, Cal.; A. W. Peterson, Oklahoma City, Ok.; Dr. G. K. Abbott, medical superintendent of the Paradise Valley Sanitarium and Hospital; F. E. Corson, manager of the Loma Linda College of Medical Evangelists, and J. A. Burden, manager of the Paradise Valley sanitarium.

Progress Is Shown

Credentiais and licenses have been issued to all the members of the executive committee, Elder Parmele states, and to several others who are actively engaged in the work of the church under the direction of the Pacific Union conference.

"The entire sessions were of a most harmonious and enuthsiastic nature," declared Elder Parmele, "and they indicated that the church is progressing along lines that will permit it to carry out a program of much wider scope than it has ever attempted in the past."

The other members of the Glendale delegation are expected home tomorrow, many of them planning to make the trip by automobile.

Alaska Soon Will Be Supporting Herself

WASHINGTON, March 19.—Alaska will soon be feeding herself.

It is the hope of the United States Department of Agriculture to make the soil of this region produce in great abundance so that much of the food now imported may give way to home-grown products of better quality and freshness.

Experiments are being carried on, the department stated, with different breeds of cattle. Hogs are now being bred and raised successfully. Hardy dairy breeds of cows soon will be developed, giving the Alaskan population a good fresh milk supply.

Hardy strains of small grains do well in the interior in most growing seasons, according to the report, and when made useless by the elements as food for human beings may be made into hay or silage.

Winter feed is a big problem for Alaska farmers, but the silo is helping them solve it. Oats, with peas or vetch, make good silage, as well as some of the native grasses, especially wild rye and a tall sedge, the report stated.

"Alaska produces as fine potatoes as can be found in any country," says the report, "and they are successfully grown in all parts of the territory, even far north of the Arctic Circle, in favorable seasons."

Improved hardy varieties of potatoes have been developed and are being grown. Strawberries have been developed to a commercial scale. Currants, gooseberries and raspberries are also successfully grown, the report states. Roses also are being introduced to beautify the country, a Japanese rose thriving the best in all parts of the territory, the report stated.

Wireless telephones may be installed on fishing boats plying out of Nagasaki, Japan.

Sinclair Recalled To Testify Before Senate Committee

WASHINGTON, March 19.—Harry F. Sinclair, lessee of Teapot Dome oil reserve, who is now in the West, preparing to contest the government suit to cancel his lease, was subpoenaed today to return to Washington and appear before the Senate public lands committee on Friday.

His ex-secretary, G. D. Wahlberg, whose revelations to Archie Roosevelt resulted in the latter's retirement from Sinclair's employ, and his subsequent reporting to the oil committee his suspicions of the lease, was instructed to report here on Thursday.

Fall. Subsequently Fall sent the marines to Teapot Dome to eject Darden's employes as "squatters."

The committee decided today to probe deeper into Fall's financial transactions and a subpoena was issued for M. D. Thatcher, president of the First National bank of Pueblo, Colo., to bring all the records of Fall's financing through that bank.

Burns Makes Denial

While new allegations were made today concerning the laxity of law enforcement by the Department of Justice, William J. Burns came out with a vigorous denial of most of the testimony of G. O. Holdridge, a former agent, who provided the Senate investigating committee with most of its information about the conspiracy to exhibit the Dempsey-Carpentier fight films.

In his lengthy denial today of Holdridge's testimony, Burns said Holdridge's resignation had been requested by the Department of Justice because of an episode in the Sunset Inn, near Troy, N. Y. Holdridge and another agent, Thomas Spellacy, Burns said, had gone to the inn, consumed a lot of liquor and food, and when the bill was presented Holdridge declined to pay and flashed his badge.

OLD MESA VERDE TO BE REBUILT

Ancient Ruins of Aboriginal Village Will Depict Vanished Race

By ROBERT S. THORNBURGH
For International News Service.

WASHINGTON, March 19.—Restoration of the centuries-old stone cliff dwellings of the aboriginal Pueblo Indians in the Mesa Verde district of Colorado is planned by Dr. J. Walter Fewkes, of Smithsonian Institution, and internationally known ethnologist.

In making public his development project Dr. Fewkes said that during the coming summer he would resume excavations in the mysterious Pueblo ruins, believed to hold secrets of a queer race that settled there before the thirteenth century.

"What we shall find this summer is a matter of speculation," Dr. Fewkes declared. "The dusty, humdrum work of excavating may go on for days without startling discovery. Then suddenly may be found some relic of prehistoric man from which page after page of history may be read.

Ruins Are Rich

"Anything of archaelogical value may be dug up. Undoubtedly these ruins are rich in remnants of a civilization long since vanished."

It is expected that one or more heretofore undiscovered villages of the sun-worshippers of antiquity may be uncovered during the summer, when excavating, abandoned in 1922, is resumed.

When funds are available from Congress Dr. Fewkes hopes to restore a typical Pueblo village. Several famous cliff houses and a structure christened the "Pipe Shrine House" will be rebuilt or restored in the Mesa Verde national park.

Babes Occupy Bed With Dead Parent

MUNSON, Fla., March 19.—Spending the night with their lifeless father, without friends or relatives, on a lonely farm near here, was the experience of two little girls, the daughters of Dan Harrison, widower, who died here a few nights ago.

The children, who were known to be almost dependent upon charity for their bare existence, were found the next morning by a neighbor who called to bring food. They were endeavoring to cook a corncake in an ashheap in the fireplace.

"How is your papa today?" was the greeting of the early morning benefactor.

"He's dead!" came the rather startling reply. "He died last night, and we had to sleep all night in the bed with him!" said the oldest, a girl of eight years.

The cold body of the father was found in the bed. The children knew when he died, but they had no way of going to the neighbors. They have been placed in the West Florida Receiving Home, in Pensacola.

SENATE'S PROBE RANGES WIDE IN DAUGHERTY QUIZ

Alleged Texas Land Frauds Subject to Testimony Before Committee

By WILLIAM K. HUTCHINSON
For International News Service

WASHINGTON, March 19.—Plunging into a wide range of subjects, the Senate's public trial of Attorney-General Harry M. Daugherty was directed today into further investigtaion of alleged liquor deals, lottery swindles, land frauds and the so-called Dempsey-Carpentier fight film conspiracy.

To follow up its inquiry into alleged land swindles, the committee recalled Maco Stewart, a lawyer of Galveston, Texas.

Wheeler Absent

Paul Howland, attorney for Daugherty, began cross-examining Stewart on his allegations of yesterday that Daugherty had declined to prosecute land fraud and lottery cases in Texas and elsewhere.

The investigation slowed up today, due to the absence of Senator B. K. Wheeler, Democrat, of Montana. It was announced that Wheeler was "sick in bed with a heavy cold."

Stewart was questioned on the charges he made yesterday that the United Home Builders was conducting a "lottery" in violation of the law.

Claim Indictments

Howland endeavored to show the department of justice had prosecuted alleged land swindlers all over the country. He called attention to indictments returned in Indianapolis, Toledo and Pittsburgh.

Counsel for Daugherty questioned Stewart at length regarding indictments of individuals and companies in the housing business, which Stewart had investigated. Howland explained he was trying to show that Daugherty's department had been busily bringing these firms to justice on charges of using the mails fraudulently.

Korean Students Flee from Japan's Schools

TOKIO, Mar. 19.—The schools of Tokio probably will be without the usual contingent of Korean students, if present indications have anything to do with it. Prior to the great earthquake virtually every school of Tokio had its group of Korean students, young people sent to this country by their home districts for higher education. In the days following the earthquake excitement in the capital and elsewhere ran high and hundreds of Koreans, charged with poisoning wells and attempting to spread discord, were murdered in cold blood by members of The Young Men's Associations and by groups of excited youths. In many cases Chineses and even Japanese, mistaken for Koreans, met death at the hands of the half-crazed mobs.

The outbreak of the Japanese mobs caused a wholesale exodus of Koreans from the capital, as they felt their lives would be constantly in danger here, and as a consequence when schools opened again the Korean attendants were missing. Reports in Tokio are to the effect that very few of the Korean students who returned to their homes may be expected to return here.

Dancing Taught Jap Maidens in Factory

OSAKA, Japan, March 19.—A mode for recreation for factory girls which goes the Japanese factory reformer one better has recently been announced here. In addition to building an enlarged factory and providing facilities within the building for the good of its employes, the Toyo Spinning company has recently decided that its hundreds of women employes must study Western dancing in the grounds of the factory for recreation and to "improve their health and morality."

Before the dancing classes, held in recreation hours during the daytime, were organized, so the report goes, the girls, who were quartered in factory apartment houses in Osaka, were wont to sing Japanese songs that the management of the factory called "trashy." They sought amusement wherever it might be found, and as a result their low moral condition led to inferior work in factory hours. The classes in Western dancing were the result, and today the management of the factory employs professional teachers to explain the difficult steps of the Western dances. Approximately 1,200 girls are now enjoying this form of recreation in the Toyo Spinning Mills and in other factories near Osaka.

ROOMS RESERVED BY PATIENTS AT NEW INSTITUTION

Practically All Quarters on Main Floor Taken; Lists Growing

All day yesterday and this morning, prospective patients visited the new Glendale Sanitarium and Hospital and made reservations for rooms. Practically all of the patients now in the old sanitarium, who are able to be about, made reservation in the new institution. Nearly all of the rooms on the main floor from the lobby going toward the medical building have been reserved. The people were not long in making their choice, and tags have been hung on the doors with the word "reserved" printed on them, and the names of those who are to occupy the rooms.

Some persons who have been living in Los Angeles and Hollywood, waiting for the time to arrive to make their reservations, were among the early callers, and a number of rooms with private baths were taken. The management has announced that it will be about another week before the patients can move in.

Inquiries Received

Requests for rooms are coming through the mails, and a letter similar to the one herewith printed is being sent to such inquirers:

"Responding to your inquiry regarding accommodations in our new sanitarium, we are glad to advise that we are now ready to accept reservations for the rooms.

"The building will be ready for service in about ten days. Rates are quoted at $5 per day and up for room and treatment.

"Quite a large number of rooms have already been taken, and we suggest that if you desire to make a reservation you do so as early as possible."

Anxious to Finish

No one is more anxious to bring the buildings to their completion than the managers themselves. They can see that the relief that the institution will offer to suffering humanity is being sought, and they are just as anxious to give this relief as the sufferers are to get it. Dr. H. G. Westphal, the medical director of the sanitarium, visits the new institution every day, walking its long corridors, and watching the progress that the mechanics are making toward getting the place in tip-top condition.

The treatment rooms, which will be so essential to the success of the institution, are being speeded up, especially the one for the men, on the second floor. The glazed brick that were necessary to hasten the completion of these rooms has arrived, and the bricklayers are busily engaged in placing them in position. Some of the fixtures have been installed in the men's room, and a big force is now working so that, when the opening cremonies are held Sunday afternoon, the visitors can get a good idea of what these treatment rooms will really mean toward alleviating pain and restoring health.

Equipment Complete

The visitors will see dressing booths, treatment booths, compartments for Russian baths, bath tubs, sprays, tubs for sitz baths, leg baths, and other equipment. They will see the linen room, a room where wheel chairs will be placed, and the head nurse's room. The management is anxious that the visitors on Sunday shall see all that is to be seen in the institution, and to learn the methods that will be in vogue for the treatment of the sick.

They will also see what promises to be a well-equipped pharmacy just before they enter the men's treatment room. In the medical building they will see a large section that has been set aside for laboratory work. They will see what looks like a series of well-equipped kitchens. It will be in these rooms that specimens will be examined and tests made under the most scientific work, so that, if possible, the ailments of patients can be determined, and the proper kind of relief given.

The buildings, as a whole, will be so nearly completed that the visitors will readily appreciate the wonderful manner in which plans have been made to restore health, if possible.

Arm-Power Airplanes Possible, Says Expert

LONDON, March 19.—"I have little doubt that it is now possible to design an aeroplane capable of flight by a man's muscular power."

This statement was made by Colonel Ogilvie, famous British aeronautical expert, during a speech on low-powered aeroplanes of the future at a scientific exhibition.

"It will not be long," continued Ogilvie, "before we get light aeroplanes with a speed range of three to one, or twenty-five to seventy-five miles per hour, with a consumption of one hundred to one hundred and fifty miles to the gallon, depending on speed.

"Such a machine would have so good an angle of climb that with a little head wind it would be able to go up like a balloon."

Follow 10 Commandments of National Association

In urging especially careful driving during the periods when the road will be more congested than ever in history, the automobile club points out that safety is possible only through the complete co-operation of every individual at the wheel of a motor vehicle. Los Angeles is charged with leading all cities in the United States in the number of motor fatalities. The reason for that condition is that it has the most automobiles per capita and no closed season driving, hence it is obvious that if accidents are to be reduced, the responsibility is up to the individual driver.

The National Automobile Chamber of Commerce recently has compiled a new set of "ten commandments" for motorists. It is urged that all holiday drivers observe these carefully. They are as follows:

"Always remember you are an engineer, fully responsible.

"Always test your brakes when starting and have them inspected frequently.

"Never pass a street car when it is stopping, or if the law permits, proceed very slowly past it at the legal distance.

"Exercise special care in crossing in front of a street car or in passing it, as you cannot tell what may be coming on the other side.

"Always signal with hand when slowing down, turning or stopping, even though you have an automatic or mechanical warning device.

"Look before you back and sound the horn three times.

"Try to drive with using the horn as little as possible. A sudden noise may stop pedestrians in their tracks rather than warn them.

"Don't count too much on the common sense of the other fellow. No one is 100 per cent alert all the time.

"Drive slowly in streets where children are playing. Remember your own childhood.

"Cross crossings cautiously. Warning bells may be out of order, switchmen or gate operators may be off duty. Shift into second.

NAME COUNSELOR FOR BOY SCOUTS

Officials Chosen at Annual Election to Direct Organization

Scoutmasters of the Verdugo Hills council, meeting Monday night at the Congregational church for their round table, held their annual election, choosing W. L. Walker as chief counselor, and B. E. Dean and L. E. Wilson district scout commissioners, to assist new scoutmasters in organizing their work.

The supper Monday night was served by the Congregational church women. During the supper hour music was furnished by the orchestra of Troop 3, and Francis J. W. Henry led in singing. There were thirty-five men present.

Ben Robison, Jr., was chairman, introducing Richardson D. White, superintendent of schools, who spoke on "The Adolescent Boy."

Harvey R. Cheesman, scout executive, also spoke, outlining the year's program and urging more outdoor work.

Why pay tribute to a Superstition?

The idea that "eastern" motor oils—merely because they cost more—are in some mysterious way "better" is just as baseless as the superstition about the black cat crossing the road, illustrated above.

Automotive engineers have long recognized that the most suitable crude petroleum so far discovered from which to manufacture a motor oil is produced on the Pacific Coast. It is Naphthenic Base Crude.

"Thinning Down" an Advantage

The motor oil (Zerolene) which is refined from this crude has characteristics somewhat different from those of eastern paraffine base oils. It "thins down" more rapidly for one thing, and this fact is often cited against it. But this is really an advantage instead of a defect. Because it thins down more rapidly, it reaches an effective lubricating body sooner, and follows more closely the changing bearing clearances of the engine as it warms up.

Highway Commission Finds the Facts

Some time ago the engineers of the California State Highway Commission decided to subject this anti-western bogie to the brutal test of actual comparison. Read the summary of these tests, printed in the 1921 Biennial Report of the California State Highway Commission:

"Although thinning out more rapidly, the (western) oil does not show any greater breaking down under high working temperatures than the (eastern) oil, nor was there any greater deposit of carbon. Neither did the viscosity after use increase or decrease any more in the case of one than in the other."

A Better Oil Even if It Does Cost Less

Zerolene, because we employ only selected crude and hold the patents on our high-vacuum refining process, is, we are convinced, one of the most carefully manufactured oils on the market, whether of eastern or western origin. Yet it costs about one-third less than eastern oil.

In seven years the sales of Zerolene have increased seven-fold. The more experienced the motorist, the less likely he is to pay tribute to a superstition. He insists on Zerolene even if it does cost less.

going to stop Glendale from growing when Los Angeles is overflowing? Think this over, then ask the Union Pacific, Southern Pacific and Santa Fe why they are making up new trains and extra equipment and rushing them into the east. Prayer Opens Court in Carolina Daily

ORANGEBURG, S. C., March 13.—The opening of the Court of General Sessions here the other day with prayer by a minister was an innovation in criminal court procedure in this county.

The court is presided over by Judge J. K. Henery. A week prior to his arrival here, Judge Henery notified J. W. Gilman, court clerk, to arrange with some minister to conduct prayer service upon the convening of court. The judge announced that each morning during the present session of court prayer service will be held, and a different minister will be asked to officiate each day.

Mrs. Hutchinson, who is in charge of the tickets, announces that the sale is most gratifying. Among those who have subscribed for tickets are Mr. and Mrs. A. R. Eastman, Col. and Mrs. J. W. Everington, Mr. and Mrs. Alexander Mitchell, Mr. and Mrs. John Robert White, Mr. and Mrs. L. T. Rowley, Mrs. R. E. Chase, Mrs. Mabel Franklin Ocker, Mr. and Mrs. W. W. Worley, Mr. and Mrs. George J. Lyons, Mr. and Mrs. Herman Nelson, Dr. and Mrs. S. G. Staley, Dr. and Mrs. Eames, Mr. and Mrs. H. Reeve Darling, Mrs. Horace Hall, Mr. and Mrs. F. A. Beach, Mr. and Mrs. A. H. Montgomery, Mrs. Nanno Woods, Mr. and Mrs. F. C. Ayars and Miss Eva Daniels. Names of other subscribers have been printed previously in The Glendale Evening News.

Large Subscriptions Given for Oratorio

Dr. Henry Harrower has emphasized his approval of the presentation next Tuesday night of Mendelssohn's oratorio "Elijah" by the Glendale Music club, by a subscription of $25, announces Mrs. Mattison B. Jones, club president.

Mrs. Ella Richardson has also subscribed $25 and Miss Myrtle Baldwin $26.

John Stillman, director of the oratorio singers, met a chorus of eighty-one voices and participated in a fine rehearsal.

Mrs. Jones states that the club appreciates the action of Glendale merchants in postponing their fashion show one night because of the oratorio production. She adds that all women in the chorus are to wear white and that they have decided to purchase their dresses in Glendale as a return courtesy to local merchants.

W. B. KIRK HOME WITH WIFE'S BODY

Funeral Services to Be Held At Christian Church at 3 P. M. Thursday

W. B. Kirk and daughter, Miss Agnes Marie Kirk, arrived in Los Angeles at 2:40 o'clock this afternoon, bringing the body of Mrs. Kirk, whose death occurred last Saturday in New York City.

It was a sad return home for the Kirk family, who left California last June for an extended eastern and foreign trip. They arrived in New York from the trans-Atlantic trip March 8 and planned to rest a few days before going on to North Carolina, where Mr. Kirk was to leave his wife and daughter for several weeks and come on west.

However, Mrs. Kirk, whose health was frail, took seriously ill and died at their New York hotel.

NEED PLEASURES DECLARES EVANS

Amusements Should Prove Recreation to Be of Benefit to All

Striking the happy medium between work and play was the thought last night of the address given by Dr. William Evans at the Glendale Presbyterian church.

At the service tonight Dr. Evans will discuss the topic, "Should the Church Practice Bodily Healing?"

Dr. Evans last night spoke to a large crowd who were interested in the subject of amusements. The musical program was good and splendidly rendered.

Pleasure Needed

In his message he laid down certain fundamental principles with which to judge questionable amusements. A resume follows:

"First, the true Christian will realize the true relation that should exist between work and pleasure. If life is not to be one round of work, it certainly is not to be one round of pleasure. Work, not pleasure, is the chief end of man. God has laid upon every man the necessity of work and therefore has distributed to every man his work.

"Second, the true Christian will see to it that his amusements are really recreative and not dissipative. A man may lie so long in a bath that he comes out of it exhausted, or he may take a plunge or shower and come out of it better prepared to meet the manifold tasks at hand. A Christian's amusements should build up lost tissue, restore the tired body and rest the jaded mind.

"Third, the great principle that is to govern the Christian and control him in his amusements is the appeal to the Christian conscience. Rom. 14:22, 23.

"Fourth, the true Christian will consider his influence upon others. Rom. 14:14, 21. The principle that no man liveth to himself cannot be cast aside by anyone. The Christian is responsible for the influence which he exerts, whether he wills it or not. But, you say, 'Has a Christian no rights?' Did Jesus reason this way? Did he not often forfeit his rights for the sake of others? Yes, a Christian has certain rights. It is always his right to give up anything that may be a stumbling-block to a weaker brother. 'Even Christ pleased not himself.' Nor should his disciples.

How to Judge

"The fifth great principle which is to control the Christian in his amusements is the submission of the whole matter to Christ for his approval. Col. 3:17. 'And whatsoever we do in word or deed, do all in the name of the Lord Jesus, giving thanks to God and the Father by him.' Can you give thanks for that questionable amusement which your conscience troubles you concerning? If not—better leave it off."

RICH LOAFING AS GERMANS STARVE

Swiss Arraign Profiteers as They Spend Money at Winter Resorts

BERLIN, Mar. 19.—Something like a public scandal has been roused by the fact that numerous German tourists spent their money lavishly at the most luxurious hotels in Switzerland during a winter vacation while hundreds of thousands of their countrymen are practically starving at home. Their conduct especially aroused indignation among Swiss people who have made and are still making large contributions to charity funds collected for relief in Germany.

In a letter addressed to the Vorwaerts, a Swiss woman writes:

"More than 1,700 German children are at present enjoying the hospitality o fthe Swiss people and are having a good time here. More of them are expected to come here in April. Collections have been started in schools and churches to help starving German children. Since the beginning of December more than a million charity parcels are being dispatched to Germany every day. Zurich supports a soup kitchen at Stuttgart.

Grumbling Is Heard

"At the same time it has become known that about seventy per cent of all hotel guests in Switzerland are Germans. The Swiss government ought to be after them to compel them to 'do their bit for their country' just as well, since they do not seem to be inclined to give voluntarily. The Swiss are grumbling a good deal that these people have the nerve to go on living in luxury, while at the same time, lots of their countrymen are begging abroad for a piece of bread. They ought to be ashamed of their conduct."

The Vorwaerts, commenting upon the letter, says: "If the writer of this letter believes that there is the slightest inkling of compassion with the plight of the great mass of the German people within the hearts of these, our countrymen, she is, unfortunately, very much mistaken. You cannot teach them anything even about a proper sense of shame. They have simply lost it in the course of years in which they used to exploit the German people for their own pocketbooks."

To assist the school authorities of Portland, Ore., in deciding on a building program, the United States Bureau of Education made a survey of the city's school buildings, studying these buildings from the standpoint of the traditional plan of school organization and of the work-study-play plan. Two and one-half months were spent in this survey, which was made at the request of Portland's board of school directors. The director of the survey was Miss Alice Barrows of the Bureau of Education.

INVITE FATHERS TO BRING SONS TO HI-Y MEET

Speaker Merriam to Address Guests at Banquet on Tuesday Night

"If you do not have a son, borrow one for the occasion and get that proud 'fatherly feeling.' The Hi-Y will provide you with one as per specifications—freckled faced, red headed or otherwise.

"If you have a son of your own, forget about the worry, gray hairs and loss of sleep he may have caused. Bring him along. Introduce him to your friends: 'My son. Some kid, eh?'

"Dads with anywhere from two to a dozen sons, divide your squad of coming presidents with the man whose boys are all girls. Be thankful for your boy and the other fellow's boy and pal with him for one evening, at least."

Invitation Issued

That's part of a boyish invitation issued to Glendale men through the columns of the Pioneer News to the annual Hi-Y banquet next Tuesday night at the Glendale Presbyterian church. This clever publication of the Pioneer Notchers devoted a whole page and more to the coming event for fathers and sons, and our only regret is that it is impossible to reproduce the pen preview of the banquet as pictured by one of the local Hi-Y boys.

On that eventful night the boys are going to have as honored guest and speaker Frank K. Merriam of Long Beach, speaker in the House of the California Legislature. He will be introduced by Assemblyman Frank C. Weller of Glendale.

May Adopt Boys

David Black, president of the Glendale Y. M. C. A. board, is to serve as chairman of the evening, and Theodore Haig, president of the Hi-Y, will be toastmaster.

All fathers and sons of Glendale are invited. Reservations can be made at the various churches and at the Y. M. C. A. office at 102-A East Broadway, telephone Rex C. Kelley, Glendale 1153-W. Fathers who have no sons can secure one for adoption for the occasion through the Hi-Y.

A whole lot of fatherless boys in Glendale are to be adopted by the Kiwanis, Rotary and Exchange clubs, for they have each reserved a table for the banquet and will have big delegations present.

SAILORS TRAPPED IN SUNKEN DIVER

Efforts Being Made to Save Forty Imprisoned In Jap Submarine

TOKIO, March 19.—Frantic efforts were being made today to save forty sailors who are imprisoned in a submarine which sank near Sasebo naval base, after colliding with a rock in the harbor.

The men in the sunken diver have communicated with the rescue workers by tapping on lines run to the submarine and hopes are held of rescuing some, if not all, alive.

The disaster today was the second of the character within a year. Last summer submarine 70 sank with a loss of 80 lives.

Rich Boston Bachelor Looks for Soulmate

ELYRIA, O., Mar. 19.—An offer of a large sum of money from a staid Boston lawyer has been made the president of Ohio's most novel organization, the Widow and Widowers' club, if she will find for him a soulmate with whom he can spend the balance of his life.

The letter was received here recently by Mrs. R. E. Stull, founder of the club, which has a large voluntary membership. The attorney states in his letter that money is secondary with him, and the woman he seeks as his wife must not only be refined, but must be able to assume control of a palatial home, which the bachelor now occupies in Boston.

In contrast to this letter is one received by Mrs. Stull from a lonesome bachelor in Alaska. This man would have a mate who loves the outdoors and the "great open spaces." He promises her, his letter states, scenery more beautiful than that painted by the greatest artists and excitement more enjoyable than the bright lights of Gotham's gay Broadway.

WALTERS TO HAVE LARGE RESIDENCE

Fourteen-Room House to Be Erected at Entrance to Sparr Heights

Shortly after noon today a permit was issued by H. C. Vandewater, municipal building superintendent, for the construction of a fourteen-room residence for M. Walters, Sparr Heights subdivider, to be located on the right of Verdugo road, at the entrance to Sparr Heights.

The residence, when completed, will be one of the show places of Glendale, and will cost, according to present estimates, $35,000. It will follow the Italian style of architecture.

A. F. Leicht of 462 Vermont street, Los Angeles, is the architect, and has included many novel features in the plans. These call for an outdoor swimming pool, connected with the main building by covered patios. The living room will be circular in shape, with a dome roof.

Beautify Grounds

The grounds will include two and one-half acres, and expert landscapers will be engaged, said Mr. Leicht, to have the surroundings conform with the style of the architecture.

Mr. Walters will erect the home by private labor. Work has already started, and he expects that it will take four months to complete the residence.

Automatic telephones are to be installed in all principal cities of the Netherlands.

Delay Action Over Air Mail Terminal

Advices that have been received by Postmaster D. Ripley Jackson from the secretary of Congressman Walter F. Lineberger state that the question of the Glendale terminal for the air mail route, which Capt. As soon as possible, the latter states, the question of the air mail terminal will be taken up.

EDUCATION BEST SAFEGUARD FOR CHILDREN, CLAIM

Report Urges That Public Be Taught to Be Alert at Street Crossings

Education as the most effective means of preventing traffic accidents to school children was urged in a report submitted to the directors of the Chamber of Commerce at their weekly meeting last night by H. M. Butts, chairman of the civics committee, who had been appointed to make a study of the question of establishing safety zones and signals around the schools of the city.

"The chief safeguard," Mr. Butts declared, "is teaching the children themselves to be on the watch for automobiles when crossing the streets. The greatest stress is being laid on the crossings immediately adjoining the schools, but the pupils attending these schools have to cross many other streets on their way to and from school, where there are no traffic policemen on guard and where the menace is as great as, if not greater than, that which exists at the schools where they are under the eye of an officer.

The principal danger, Mr. Butts contended, lies in group carelessness, which is most apparent when the children are playing together and when they fail to look out for approaching automobiles, running out into the streets without first seeing that the way is clear.

Cites Fire Drills

Mr. Butts' report will be sent to the board of education and to the City Council, with the recommendation that a campaign of education be launched to teach the children to be on their guard against traffic accidents, and the co-operation of the teachers and of the Parent-Teachers' associations will be asked in carrying out the campaign. It was pointed out by Director L. H. Wilson that the

GLENDALE

Dear Glendale! When I ramble
Thy hills or meadows green,—
Or 'neath the shade of leafy tree
Survey some sylvan scene;
Watching the glistening glorious sun,
As it brightens all the way,
Fringing the hills with silver foam,
Or hid by boulders grey,—
I ask myself, can any land
Thy varied charms excel,
Or satisfy the heart's desire,
Like thee I love so well.

I've traveled far in other climes,
Where wondrous sights abound;
I've viewed the mighty cataract,
And trembled at its sound;
I've seen the snow-capped mountain
'Neath which volcanoes hide,—
A country's boasted show,—at once,
Their terror and their pride.
I've felt the ice-king's biting breath,
I've trod the torrid zone;
But found no spot so sweet as this
I fondly call my own.

I've met strange people many hued,
Decked out in various guise;
But Glendale's men and maids surpass
All others in my eyes.
True as the needle to the north
My heart still yearns for those,
The brave, the fair, the good and true,
Whose emblem is the rose;
Then here's to Glendale's hills and dales,
From them no more to roam,
But sing my lays and end my days
At home, my own dear home.

Woman Slightly Hurt When Auto Hits Bus

Mrs. E. B. Kester of 1845 East Vassar avenue was cut about the face and head Monday night, when a car her husband was driving collided with a Pacific Electric bus driven by Adrian Gharbonneau of Lankershim, at the corner of Columbus avenue and Lexington drive.

The bus was traveling north on Columbus, and Kester was driving west on Lexington. Kester, in his report, states that his vision was obscured by rain on his windshield.

Dr. J. E. Eckles was called to give medical aid to Mrs. Kester, after which she was able to proceed to her home.

BIG PROFITS IN FRUITS EXPECTED

Orange and Lemon Groves To Yield Large Returns, Moisture Assured

Oranges and lemons in the vicinity of Riverside and the San Jacinto valley will show a return of fully 20 per cent of the grove owners' investment, declared L. A. Hart of the Hart Realty company, 205 West Broadway, upon his return from a trip to that section of the state.

"Grove owners in the San Jacinto valley and in Riverside are very optimistic," he said. "They are getting plenty of rainfall, and the snow on the mountains will mean moisture later in the year when it is most needed.

"I found the fruit market steady, and the growers are very optimistic. Persons owning 10-acre tracts planted to orange trees or lemons, are counting on clearing up 20 per cent on their investment this year. They figure that within a short time the land will have paid for itself.

"The lemon outlook is exceptionally good. I saw lemon trees in the valley that were set out in 1913 and have never been touched by frost. The owner of one small grove told me that he counted on 3,500 boxes from his grove this year."

Sophomore Paper Is Issued by Class

The annual Sophomore class edition of the Occidental college newspaper came off the press yesterday morning and was greeted with much interest by the students of the institution. The paper was very good, containing some snappy news articles and personal comments on the prominent members of the class, articles on the Sophomore activities, and several feature stories. The class of '26 is striving to have the best class paper of the year. The Junior paper which came out two weeks ago was very good, but the Sophomores are leading with their splendid production. Bob Kleinpell was the editor-in-chief and was assisted by a large staff of efficient reporters, who have been working a long time on the gathering of data concerning the Class of '26 and its members. The Freshmen and Senior editions have yet to make their appearance before the contest is decided.

PRESIDENT WINS SUPPORT IN ALL PARTS OF STATE

California Lining Up Behind Coolidge Solidly In Nomination Race

Reports from every section of California indicate that the entire state is aligning itself behind President Calvin Coolidge in his primary campaign. Intensive work has been reported in all sections during the past two weeks according to Southern California campaign officials. If the current rate of progress is maintained the chief executive will be supported at the May primary by the greatest assemblage in the history of the state, they say.

Congressmen John D. Fredericks and Walter F. Lineberger will be the guests of honor and speakers at a luncheon to be conducted Tuesday, March 25, in Los Angeles by the Coolidge forces. Reservations have been made for several hundred persons at Paulais', 741 South Broadway, by the Coolidge headquarters.

Women's Division

Loyal Republican women of Los Angeles county have united in organizing a women's division. Mrs. Florence Collins Porter, delegate at large on the Coolidge ticket, has been made chairman of the women's division. Mrs. R. T. Brain has been named secretary of the division.

At a meeting Thursday afternoon, March 13, more than 100 women met in the Los Angeles headquarters and outlined plans for their campaign. The county was divided into seven districts and officers to direct the campaign in these districts were named.

Members of the Vermont and South Dakota Coolidge for President clubs of California united their organizations in a federation at a meeting Wednesday night, March 12.

H. J. Stonier, executive secretary of the University of Southern California, instituted instructions for members of the southern division of the Coolidge speaking bureau at a luncheon Wednesday, March 5. Other lectures will be given by Professor Stonier at weekly luncheons in the Angelus hotel.

Evans Is Speaker

Mrs. Porter, Henry P. Barbour, president of the California Real Estate association and alternate delegate-at-large on the Coolidge ticket, and W. E. Evans, of Glendale, Coolidge delegate from the Ninth Congressional district, were the speakers at a meeting of Coolidge Republicans in Englewood, Tuesday night, March 12.

Glendora has formed a Coolidge Republican club with C. G. Warren, well known citrus grower as president and H. H. Sellers, secretary and treasurer. John A. Jones, editor of the Glendora Gleaner, reports that "sentiment here is overwhelmingly in President Coolidge's favor. What we want is constructive statesmanship."

One of the largest Coolidge organizations to be formed in Southern California is now actively campaigning in San Diego. The San Diego County Coolidge club is reported to have a working membership of 2000. Its president is State Senator E. P. Sample. Jack Gillan is its secretary-treasurer and campaign manager. The chairman of the San Diego executive committee is C. T. Selleck.

JUVENILE CRIME DUE TO PARENTS' LACK OF CONTROL

Delinquency Among Children Traced to Their Homes, Judge Declares

"If we can create homes in the future that will provide anchors for the boys and girls, teaching loyalty, honesty, kindness, affection for mother, with plenty of parental control, there will be a diminution of delinquency among the young people of our country," Tuesday Afternoon club women were told yesterday by Judge Harry R. Archbald of the juvenile court of Los Angeles, which he stated "is from the point of view of business, the second largest court in the United States."

"The juvenile court is a place for very little law and a great deal of humanity," said Judge Archbald, and as the club company heard him talk informally about the responsibilities that are his, as judge of this court, they realized that woven into his personality and prudent judgment is a goodly measure of human understandings that qualifies him for presiding over what he chooses to call a "court of correction, not one of punishment."

"Ninety-five per cent of the delinquency among the boys and girls is attributable to the home," declared Judge Archbald. "There is nothing to keep them at home. They go out on the streets and the first thing you know they land in the juvenile court."

Cites Many Cases

Throughout his talk he introduced cases he has come in contact with, showing the conditions as they exist and corrective methods the court is using in "setting these boys and girls to thinking right" as the first step to reform.

Mrs. Maynard Force Thayer of Pasadena, president of the Civic League of Pasadena, chairman of Americanization for the California Federation of Women's clubs, and past regent of the California Daughters of the American Revolution, was another honored guest and speaker.

She has the delightful talent of passing along her patriotic enthusiasm and 100 per cent Americanism, and in her own eloquent way brought the challenge of America to her voters to the Tuesday Afternoon club women.

Asks Registration

"A certain group of our ancestors dumped some tea in Boston harbor one time because there was taxation without representation," she said. "Today every American who does not register and cast his ballot may well be said to be sanctioning taxation without representation."

Another special guest of the club was Mrs. William Farrell, president of the North End club of Chicago, and chairman of American citizenship for the tenth Illinois district. She was a guest

When Friend Meets Friend

"Wolf," famous war dog decorated by Marshal Foch for bravery under fire, shaking hands with District Attorney O'Brady of San Francisco. Wolf will appear at the American Legion benefit performance at the Broadway High school auditorium tonight.

Tonight at the Broadway high school auditorium will be the first opportunity for Glendale folks to see Wolf, the internationally famous war dog, in his act under the auspices of the Glendale Post of the American Legion.

Wolf appeared upon the streets of Glendale Saturday, and many expressed their desire to see the famous war dog exhibit his remarkable intelligence.

Arrangements have been made to put the great dog to the most severe tests. He is not a trick dog, but really understands three languages. He will endeavor—and he has never failed—to execute commands in three languages, English, French and German, it is said. These commands will be originated by the audience and merely relayed to him by his master, Jere Evans, who operated him for the A. E. F. in the firing lines in the Cambrai sector, as a messenger bearer when the fire became too hot and concentrated for any human messenger to escape. The reason of this is that Wolf is a "one-man dog." He understands the commands readily enough when given by others than his master but he remains indifferent to them. In fact, he is so one-mannish that he will not eat food given him by other than his master. Anyone in the audience is at liberty to request of Wolf that he do anything not impossible, and Mr. Evans will command him to do so.

Wolf works from the stage to the audience and back again. One of the amazing things that he does is to take articles, anything the people want to give him, bring them back to the stage and exchange them to any part of the stage that the owner desires, and then return the articles to the right owners, thus demonstrating that he has not only real intelligence but memory as well.

He was captured from the Germans in the Cambrai sector while serving under fire as a messenger, retrained by the British and used as a messenger, then by the French, and finally by the A. E. F. While serving the French he won the Croix de Guerre.

Plan 'Little Theater' Society for Children

Glendale's latest dramatic project is a movement for a children's "little theatre" society, to foster clean, wholesome entertainment and amusement and to encourage the production of plays for children by children.

E. J. Courtney of 1116 Campbell street, is president of the new organization, and working with him are Mesdames C. H. Thompson, C. W. Buss, Alexander Mitchell, Marion Young and Roy Ballagh.

Mr. Courtney states that a meeting is to be held soon to consider ways and means of putting on a play to be given by children. He adds that this society will be glad to cooperate in any way possible with other organizations for the benefit of wholesome entertainment for the young folks of Glendale.

30 STARS BILLED TO AID LEGION'S RELIEF PROGRAM

Virginia Pearson Brings Her Many Film and Stage Friends Here

Headed by Miss Virginia Pearson, noted war worker and friend of the ex-service man, and Will Rogers, who needs no introduction to residents of this city, thirty stars of the stage and screen will invade Glendale tonight to stage a performance, the proceeds of which will go to the fund maintained by the local post of the American Legion for the relief of disabled ex-service men and building fund. The party will include the following:

Mary Carr, Lew Cody, Creighton Hale, Herbert Rawlinson, Jackie Saunders, Shannon Day, Crawford Kent, Robert De Costa, Major Richard Tucker, Florence Vidor, Anita Stewart, Buster Collier, Edward Earl, Sheldon Lewis, Molly Mildran, Harry Tighe, Loomis twins, Benny Lyon, Mr. and Mrs. Rollin Edwards, Priscilla Dean, Cosmo Morgan, Buster Keaton, and "Wolf" the historic war-dog.

Tickets in Demand

The last minute rush for tickets has had no parallel in this city. Indications are that a full house will greet the performers when the curtain goes up at the Broadway high school auditorium tonight at 8:15 o'clock. As all the stars are donating their services, several thousand dollars should be added to the Legion treasury to be diverted into the two channels.

The performance, sponsored by Miss Virginia Pearson, noted war worker, promises to be one of the most brilliant ever presented in Glendale. It includes artists who really can "do something," so she states, rather than headliners who rely upon the personal reputation to thrill the audience.

The show will be staged under the personal supervision of Rollin Edwards, film director of note, and he has outlined a program, every act of which will be well worth the price of admission.

Rogers Lends Wit

The humorous side of the entertainment will be well taken care of by Will Rogers. He was the first to signify his willingness to appear at the benefit, and assured the committee today that he would certainly be here.

Several novel advertising stunts have preceded the performance. On Saturday, "Wolf" the famous war dog decorated by Marshal Foch was in the city, and yesterday afternoon an aeroplane flew over the streets dropping hand bills advertising the show.

The advance sale indicates that the crowd will be tremendous, and purchasers of tickets will do well

Daily News Letter

General News and Gossip from Staff Writers at Home and Abroad.

By STEWART JACKSON
For International News Service

NEW YORK, March 19.—How many sobs are drowned out by every song that swells a Broadway stage?

How many heartaches are hidden shadowed behind the pages of fiction's best seller?

The old, sad story of the scores of pitiful failures behind the one flaming success was retold in New York recently in the tragic suicide of the beautiful Vallie Belasco Martin, Seattle cousin of David Belasco, who took her life in despair because, after six unrelenting years of hope and work, she had failed both as an actress and as a writer.

Even as the dead body of the girl lay stretched across the bed, the poison still upon her lips, a gray-garbed postman dropped in the mail box of her Riverside Drive apartment the returned, rejected manuscript of her latest poetic effort.

Denied success behind the twinkling lights of the mock stage of Broadway, she portrayed by her tragic act the real drama of the hundreds of western girls who flock to New York each year to gain success behind the footlights and fade out, forgotten, into the abysmal gloom that fringes the garish Rialto glare.

Her hands clinging to the locked door of magazine success, she has written for others who would heed, the greatest short story ever penned of those untalented thousands who pursue to the tragic end that will o' the wisp—the bobbing jack o' lantern of fiction.

Six years ago—young, beautiful, with a fair talent for singing and dancing, and with a more than average ability to write—Vallie Martin left her secure Seattle home and heeded the call of the city.

Her distant relationship to Belasco, the master producer, enhanced her chances, and she got a good part with the show "Very Good, Eddie." She tried hard, but she didn't shine; however, the $100 a week she received succeeded in turning her pretty head and convinced her she was an actress. She was dropped. In a lesser part she got on with the show, "Watch Your Step" and lost out there. Then came, after weeks of seeking, a very minor part in "Abie's Irish Rose." After that—nothing.

She hadn't that something which makes great actresses and show girls, but she didn't know it. And failure after failure disheartened her, but found her doggedly hunting, hollow-eyed, the Broadway booking offices that are the drab morgues of so many histrionic hopes.

She turned to writing. Story after story she penned and sent on its miserable way, with a gasp and a prayer and a postage stamp. Some few at first were published in lesser periodicals, but the most of them came back. Came back with that printed, stereotyped slip of rejection that has driven more than one discouraged writer to seek the Great Adventure of all the fiction of the ages—the black eddies of the Seine, in Paris; the open gasjet, or the bottle of acid, in a New York "furnished room."

Like so many others, strangers to the city, she came to believe that Broadway, with its myriad clustered lights, its maddening jam of theatregoers, its painted, fur-coated showgirls and mannequins, was all that counted in New York—the real thing that kept the city going. She was blind to the fact that this was but one infinitesimal phase.

Her false literary associations gradually led her to believe that in the tawdry dungeon coffee houses of Greenwich Village, where short-haired girls and long-haired youths lisped, parrot-like, of Ghorky and Bakhst, there dwelt the depths of modern thought and literature.

She saw, as many others see, only the false face of New York. For it has a great false face that hides its real heart and deep mind. Its cafe signs are mostly those of foreign proper names. Its waiters are French, Italian, Bohemian; its menus a melange of hors d'oeuvres and spaghetti. It is hard to find a real American waiter on Broadway; almost impossible to get a real old-fashioned American meal in town.

Aglow in this fake cosmopolitan light, she basked, as many others have before her, and kept a smile on her face that even the ache of disappointment could not line out—the smile that reflected the smoldering fire of her early ambition.

Dinner Stories

Mrs. Beautiful Young Lady went to see a clairvoyant and interviewed her on the usual subjects. The fortune-teller was especially optimistic.

"Lady," she said, "you will visit foreign lands and the courts of kings and queens. You will conquer all rivals and marry the man of your choice. He will be tall and dark and aristocratic looking."

"And young?" impatiently interrupted the young lady, whose breast was heaving.

"Yes, and very rich."

Mrs. Beautiful Lady, pressed the fortune teller's hands and burst out excitedly "Thank you! Now tell me: How shall I get rid of my present husband'

Two southern boys from a state that had been dry for years before national prohibition were on their way home after the demobilization and whiled away the tedious hours of a hot day on the train by telling about France.

Neither of them had ever seen a saloon or touched a drop of any intoxicating beverage before he went to France.

"They got a drink over there they call cognac," said Tom. "They spell it c-o-g-n-a-c, but they pronounce it cognac. Me and Will, here, we tried some. They just give you about a thimbleful for a drink. We drank five of them. Gosh, it sure made our eyes beautiful, but for a few minutes we couldn't see good."

A growing boy in an English town had obtained a small job—his first—and was boasting of the amount of work he did.

"I get up at half-past five and has my breakfast," he said.

"Any one else get up, too?" he was asked.

"Oh, yes, mother. She gets me breakfast and then she gets dad's at half-past six"

"And your dinner?"

"Oh, mother gets that, too, and then she gets father's."

"Has she the afternoon to herself?"

"Oh, no! She cleans up, looks after the children, and gets tea for dad and me when we come home. Then we gets our smoke, and then we gets to bed."

"And your mother?"

"Well, she does a bit of sewing then, when all is cleaned up after tea."

"What wages do you get?"

"Oh, I gets ten bob, and dad gets thirty-five."

"And your mother?"

"Mother? Oh, she don't get no wages. She don't do no work."

Two women who are moving from the city to a ranch at La Canada called at The News office this morning for information. They wished to look over the advertising columns to find out what kind of stores there are in Glendale. They hoped they might be able to purchase all of the necessaries of life in Glendale, as that would save them the tiresome trip to the city. We assured them that Glendale is an independent city, with all kinds of merchandise on display in her stores.

Eleanor Aylesworth

NEW YORK, March 19.—A world-wide search is being organized for Eleanor Aylesworth, pretty 16-year-old high school girl who disappeared mysteriously from the home of her guardian, Harry Harkness, in Binghamton, N. Y. Search in New York and nearby states has been availing.

By an odd quirk of fate, her father, Winsor Aylesworth of Forksville, Pa., who is aiding in the search, followed what seemed a promising clew and found, instead of his daughter, another lost girl. Suffering from aphasia, she wondered into a rural section not far from Binghamton. Aylesworth was able to restore her to her parents before going on with the search for his own child.

A theory that the girl was kidnapped for ransom from her millionaire guardian has been discredited by the fact that no demands for money have been made. No other reason for her disappearance has been assigned.

A complete description of the girl was given in Binghamton as follows:

Sixteen years old. Weight 110 pounds. Height five feet. Light brown hair, not bobbed. Large blue eyes. Light complexion. When she disappeared she was wearing a black velvet hat, turned up on four sides; a long light tan coat, with heavy black fur collar; navy blue dress, black silk stockings and black pumps.

CLASSICS OF HUMOR

A TRAGIC STORY By William Makepiece Thackeray

There lived a sage in the days of yore,
And he a handsome pigtail wore;
But wondered much, and sorrowed more,
Because it hung behind him.

He mused upon this curious case,
And swore he'd change the pigtail's place,
And have it hanging at his face,
Not dangling there behind him.

Says he, "The mystery I've found,
I'll turn me round," he turned him round;
But still it hung behind him.

Then round and round, and out and in,
All day the puzzled sage did spin;
In vain—it mattered not a pin,—
The pigtail hung behind him.

And up, and down, and in, and out
He turned; but still the pigtail stout
Hung steadily behind him.

And though his efforts never slack,
And though he twist, and twirl, and tack,
Alas! still faithfuly to his back,
The pigtail hangs behind him.

Uncle Wiggily Bedtime Stories

— BY HOWARD R. GARIS —

UNCLE WIGGILY AND THE RUNAWAYS

"Come, Floppy! Come, Curly!" called Mrs. Twistytail, the lady pig, one morning. "Get up, please! Time to go to school."

The little piggie boys turned over in their warm straw bed.

"Say, I don't want to get up," grunted Curly.

"Neither do I," grunted Floppy. "I don't want to go to school either."

"That's the way I feel," whispered Curly. "Oh, Flop, I'll tell you what let's do!" he went on.

"What?" asked the other little pig boy.

"Let's run away from school?"

"Run away from school? Where will we run to? How can we do it?"

"Like this," went on Curly, sliding out of bed. "We'll go downstairs and have our breakfast. Then we'll start off just as if we were going to school. But we won't go! We'll run away."

"Run away where?" asked Floppy.

"To the woods. It's getting warmer now—soon it will be spring. Perhaps in the woods, we may find some mushrooms or truffles and we can dig them up with our rubbery noses. Let's run away to the woods."

So the two little piggie boys, not telling their dear lady pig mother anything about it, became runaways. They pretended to go to the hollow stump school. But they only went a little way toward it.

Then, with their books under their fat little front legs, Curly and Floppy turned down a side path and soon were in the woods.

As Curly had said, the day was lovely, the sun shining bright and warm, though of course it was too early, in the place where the piggie boys lived, to find mushrooms and truffles.

"Say, this is fun; isn't it?" grunted Floppy, when he and his brother were sitting on a log under a sassafras bush.

"It's a lot better than going to school," grunted Curly. "I'm never going back to the Lady Mouse Teacher."

"Neither am I," said Floppy. He was just going to toss away his books when, all of a sudden, he and his brother heard a noise in the bushes—a rustling, rattling sort of a noise.

"Hark. What's that?" whispered Floppy.

"I don't know—maybe it's the Bushy Bear," whispered Curly.

They were just getting ready to run—they would even have been glad to run to the Hollow Stump school just then—when along the path came Uncle Wiggily Longears.

"Ah, good morning, piggie boys," cried the jolly rabbit gentleman, twinkling his pink nose. "I am glad to see you. So you have brought your school books out here to study your lessons. Ah, that is a very good idea. I wish my teacher had let me do that when I was a young rabbit. Your Lady Mouse is very kind. So she sent you out here in the woods to study your books; did she? Well, now, I will hear your lessons."

Curly and Floppy looked in surprise at each other. What could they do What could they say?

Uncle Wiggily did not seem to know that they had run away from school. He seemed to think they were out in the woods because the Lady Mouse Teacher had sent them. Wasn't it dreadful?

"Well, now, Floppy, I'll hear your spelling lesson first,' went on the rabbit gentleman, sitting down on a log near the piggie boys. "I suppose you have had time to study, since you came out here to the woods instead of going to school. Spell me the word corn, Floppy."

As Floppy was very fond of corn, he easily spelled it. He could spell corn on the cob, popped corn, buttered corn and sugar corn.

"Very good, Floppy," said Uncle Wiggily, smiling. "I shall tell the Lady Mouse Teacher that you knew your lesson very well. Now I am going to try Curly on his number work. Give me your arithmetic book, Curly."

Curly handed it to the bunny. Oh, how queer those piggie boys felt to think that Uncle Wiggily thought they were doing right to be there in the woods.

"How many are three apples and two apples, Curly?" asked the rabbit gentleman.

"Five apples," answered Curly, for he was very fond of them.

"Right!" cried the bunny uncle. "I shall tell the Lady Mouse Teacher that you knew your lesson, Curly. And now—"

"Yes, and now I am going to nibble your ears," suddenly growled a savage voice, and out of the woods rushed the Black Bushy Bear.

"Throw your hard spelling book at him, Floppy!" cried Curly. "Throw your spelling book at the Bear and I'll throw my arithmetic with all the hard examples in!"

So the piggie boys threw their

"Say, this is fun; isn't it?" grunted Floppy.

hard school books at the Bear, hitting him on his soft and tender nose.

"Wowzie! Wow!" howled the Bear, and then the ran away.

"Good, piggie boys!" laughed Uncle Wiggily. "It's a fine thing for me that you ran away from school and came here with your books."

"Oh, Uncle Wiggily! Did you know we ran away?" asked Floppy.

"Of course, I did—all the while! But I'll ask your mother and the Lady Mouse Teacher to forgive you!" laughed the bunny And he did, and they did, and it was all right.

DAMAGE CLAIMS ON FLOOD FILED

Petition Handed to C. of C. By Property Owners Sent to Trustees

Whether the recent flood following the heavy rains of early March was "avoidable" or "an act of Providence" is a question that may require a judicial interpretation, inasmuch as a petition signed by thirty-eight residents who claim they suffered damages has been received by the directors of the Chamber of Commerce and turned over to the City Trustees to dispose of as they see fit.

As the city has already contracted to expend approximately $5000 in repairing storm damage, it is not likely they will accede to the request of these petitioners, according to Trustee John Neilsen.

The sentiment of the Chamber of Commerce directors in "passing the buck" to the Trustees on the proposition was that floods are an act of Providence and property damage caused by them must be borne by the individuals affected.

Favor Viaducts

The city planning commission has gone on record as favoring viaducts over the Southern Pacific tracks at the Olive and Magnolia avenue crossings and the secretary of the commission has been authorized to request of the City Trustees and Southern Pacific officials that efforts be made to accomplish such a step.

The action was taken following a letter received from Frank F. Greene of 1753 West 46th street, Los Angeles, who stated that he had on numerous occasions been delayed at these crossings and that a viaduct at each would be of decided advantage to the traveling public. Subways at the points in question would not be practicable, he said.

Mr. Greene carried his suggestion sufficiently far to remind the commission that such a viaduct could start at the Burbank Lumber company office and continue practically on a level until the tracks have been crossed after which it could take a gradual decline until the grade was reached on the other side.

Mr. Greene further suggested that since the Southern Pacific is planning on a new depot at Burbank, their plans should be considered with these proposed viaducts in view so that their depot building operations should be made to harmonize with this kind of a program.

Senator Says Removal of Daugherty Feared

WASHINGTON, Mar. 19.—Senator Heflin, Democrat of Alabama, charged late yesterday in the Senate that Attorney-General Daugherty was being permitted to remain in the cabinet because administration leaders fear to bring about his removal.

"It is an open secret," said Heflin, "that the president would like to see Mr. Daugherty removed. We know that several leaders in the senate went to the president and advised that he let the attorney-general resign. But the president threw up his bristles. He refused. I wonder what it is that Daugherty knows, what he's got, that these leaders in the senate dare not—or, perhaps, it would be better to say, 'do not' go any further.

Southern California

Advises Traffic Signals

PASADENA, March 19.—Establishment of automatic traffic signaling devices was recommended to the Safety Advisory committee yesterday afternoon by George K. Hooper, assistant city manager, who has just returned from an eastern trip during which he studied signaling devices in Chicago and elsewhere. The devices recommended are said by Mr. Hooper to work well in Chicago, where vehicles travel at a high rate of speed and with greater safety to pedestrians and other traffic, than any other city he has investigated. The boulevard stop system was among the recommendations made to the committee.

Hollywood Seeks Parks

HOLLYWOOD, March 19.—Plans have been tentatively adopted for calling a special election here on June 24 to vote on the proposed $2,500,000 park bond issue, agreement to this effect having been reached between Secretary Carl Bush of the local Chamber of Commerce and members of the park commission. The Hollywood election, if held, will be the first under the new scheme of park development for the city which was originated by the Los Angeles Park and Playground Development Association and adopted by park commission. Under this plan the city is divided into sixteen districts, each of which has the privilege of voting park bond issues, whether or not other sections of the city reject such improvements.

Children Sign Petition

SOUTH PASADENA, March 19.—History was made in the City Council when a petition was presented bearing the signatures of sixty-seven pupils of the Oneonta school and asking that the bicycle runway in the pedestrian tunnel beneath Huntington drive at Freemont avenue be widened, so that youthful riders will not skin their knuckles en route. This is the first time a petition by children has ever been presented to the councilmen of this city.

Babies' Tastes Change

SANTA BARBARA, March 19.—Babies' tastes are changing, as well as those of the much discussed "younger generation," according to James Sobel, who makes his living selling toys to the kiddies and ought to know their foibles if anyone does. Says this seer: "The modern baby is living, in his way, a life as fast and furious as our well-known flappers and sheiks. He used to take his fluids via rubber; now he drinks his drink out of a patent glass. He used to wear dresses for at last a couple of years; now he's put in pants at about the age of six months. He used to munch rattles and teething-rings. No more of that now. They feed him iron."

Big Boy Scout Camp

SAUGUS, March 19.—Plans will be developed here for a mammoth Boy Scout camp, designed to accommodate 2000 hikers. The location is Fish Creek canyon, which has been chosen by the Santa Monica council as the site for its permanent summer camp.

Consider Hotel Plans

CALEXICO, March 19.—The Chamber of Commerce here has under consideration a proposal from S. W. Silverberg of Los Angeles, to build a hotel of 100 rooms, costing $300,000, according to Chairman S. T. Taylor of the hotel committee.

EAGLE ROCK

FRENCHMAN ASKS FOR NEWS, VIEWS

Former Resident Looks Back With Longing Eyes to Sunny California

From La Belle, France, comes a pean of rapture over the beauties of Eagle Rock, and be it added that La Belle is the name of a town and not in this case an adjective modifying the Gallic republic. As those who know their French are well aware, La Belle means "the beautiful," which makes the following letter received by the local Chamber of Commerce from one Edward A. Kepaerts all the more remarkable:

"I am at present living in La Belle, France, with my folks, where I have been since October, 1922.

"I am pleased to advise you that during those wonder years of 1903 to 1911 I have travelled in every state in the Union, and I have never forgotten my own California, I want to see it again some time.

"Now, gentlemen, I am anxious to get some news and views of the wonderful Eagle Rock City. They will give me great joy and contentment.

"If it is possible for you gentlemen to oblige me, I shall very much appreciate the kindness of all your good will.

"I thank you all, gentlemen, in advance for the granting of the favor I am asking of you, my very best wish for a long, healthy life."

Concerning Registration.

In view of the many important issues to be decided at the polls on May 6, it is felt to be highly important that every eligible person vote. Following is a statement from D. B. Lyons, which calls attention to some of the questions being asked:

"It is very important to remember that when a voter has registered since January 1, 1924, he or she does not need to again register unless on account of removal from the precinct. Anyone moving from the precinct in which he or she is registered thereby cancels his registration and must re-register. A registration made therefore at this time is good during the years 1924 and 1925, so long as one continues to reside in the place where registered.

"My local deputies in Eagle Rock are stationed at the city hall and at 2137 Fair Park avenue at the residence of Mrs. Strawn."

Jr. Auxiliary Meets

At the meeting of the Junior Auxiliary to the Women's Twentieth Century club, last Saturday morning, March 15, tentative plans were made for a party to take place in May. The date has not yet been set.

Reginald Marshall, son of Mr. and Mrs. M. L. Marshall of 5135 El Rio avenue, writes from Cheboygan, Wis., that in places the snow is higher than the street cars and it is very cold. He is on a xlyophone tour of the larger theatres of the country and is expected to return around June 1.

Mrs. Laura M. Carver, dean of the Santa Monica High school, who for some days had been a guest of Mrs. Blonda Banks Colburn of 5214 Alverne avenue, is now en route to the Orient, aboard the President Adama. She will journey from there to Scotland, via Europe, and ultimately across the Atlantic, across the United States and back to southern California.

England May Put End to Riding of Prince

LONDON, March 19.—The Prince of Wales' unfortunate habit of being thrown from his horse has been brought to the attention of parliament. A member asked Speaker Whitley whether the House of Commons could call attention of King George to the repeated risks the prince and heir to the throne is taking. The speaker replied that such action rests with the ministry. The prince is at present at Aldershot recovering from his latest fall sustained Saturday.

The facial features of the prince, one of the most handsome men in Great Britain, may be permanently affected by the kicks received Saturday. According to the Daily Graphic, the prince's nose was broken and two of his front teeth were kicked out by the horse's hoofs.

American Prelates to Have Audience Today

ROME, Mar. 19.—Archbishop Hayes of New York and Archbishop Mundelein of Chicago who will be elevated to the cardinalate on March 26, will be received in audience by Pope Pius XI today, it has been announced. The two American prelates were to have been received by the Pope Tuesday but the audience was delayed. The prelates spent considerable time with their tailors who are preparing the ecclesiastical robes which will be worn during the consistory ceremonies at St. Peter's cathedral.

Recognize Men Who Served That Boulder Canyon Dam Secret of Making Money Legion Benefit Tonight

By Gil A. Cowan

Good news for the former service man. The national house has passed the soldier bonus bill as it has been rewritten. With a little concentrated action in the Senate there is every probability of it being passed up to President Coolidge to approve. Already he has spoken against it, but there is time for reconsideration, for the adjusted compensation should not be objectionable to anyone, It does not provide for a cash payment—only paid up insurance, on which, of course, the veterans may borrow money.

Great pressure should be brought to bear by those political counsellors, who look for the continuation of the Republican administration, to see that the former service man is appeased in an honest attempt to get what he considers simple justice. Early action in the Senate is predicted.

In view of the past folly of the politicians from the outset of the war until this day, it would seem fitting and proper that some little attention be paid the thousands of men who offered their lives to their country, rather than continue hearkening to the selfish interests that have corrupted the very fountainheads of this government.

There is no doubt but what the American Legion in its campaign for compensation could have won its case had it bribed or befouled its way into the nests of the inner circle. However, it has remained for others to do so—and such methods now prove to be a boomerang for others.

The service men of the World war bided their time. We believe they now are going to get, in some small measure, the recognition they deserve. It will be well.

Another piece of legislation of vital interest to Californians which should not be made a political football, in view of the untrustworthiness evidenced in recent hearings, is the Boulder Canyon dam project. This writer has followed the progress of Imperial Valley's efforts to obtain more irrigation from Colorado river and the southland's efforts to obtain more power from the same source, and let it be said that the United States government should build Boulder Canyon dam immediately.

As might be expected, the private interests are fighting the will of the people, who know what they are about, because of selfish gain, yet that does not justify the methods they are taking to defeat the project by spreading confusion.

Thousands upon thousands of acres of American lands in the Yuma, Palo Verde and Imperial valleys would be brought under irrigation if the Colorado's water were conserved and not permitted to waste away in the Gulf of California. Thousands of acres additional could be put under the pump if the utmost of power were developed, which, of course, would materially cheapen the price of electrical energy. The federal government could do this very nicely.

In other words, a great economic issue is at hand for the public by its collective voice to settle. There is no doubt about the validity of the vested power and landed interests' claims to consideration. They should be accorded justice. But their campaign should be purged of propaganda which is designed to defeat justice for a greater number of people in this democracy of ours. And that's that.

We note the boast today of one publisher making five papers pay a profit of a million dollars or more apiece. One hardly realizes that such can be the case, for paper profits are NOT to be found in the average editor's or publisher's field of endeavor. At best one can expect to do nothing more than build up a legitimate business in a legitimate manner.

Also, nothing is said of the money lost by this million-making publisher. There is nothing said of what he does with his money after it is made. Yet it is deeply suspected that he puts it into other newspapers, other industry, giving employment to many people who have not learned the secret of making money.

And when all is said and done, there may be no secret in making money. The secret is in making it work to best advantage. For instance, three mediocre men may be hired for the price of two good men. Or old and worn out machinery may be purchased for half the price of new equipment. The man who makes money is not penny wise and pound foolish—ah, no. He simply makes his dollars last longer than the other fellow.

Southern California as a section and in general the entire Pacific coast was faced with a crisis due to the drouth. It has been broken and now this favored land is going straight ahead.

A big fall of late snow in the mountains assures plenty of water for power and irrigation. All will be well.

Business men and bankers, as well as the ranchers, may proceed with the absolute assurance that things will be normal. The crisis is past.

Two weeks ago we could not have been sure of the future. Today we know it is rosy and secure. Such is life.

Tonight there is at the Broadway High school auditorium a benefit performance of stage and film stars for the aid of disabled veterans of the World war and the American Legion building fund. It is a worthy object. If your heart and your purse are in accord with the objects, may we not suggest that you buy a ticket, whether you attend or not?

BALDNESS—No. VI

Alopecia Senilis

This is the baldness which may occur with advancing years. After 45, baldness which comes without apparent cause may be called alopecia senilis. The hair may grow gray first, or it may fall out without becoming gray.

With the exception of Alopecia Areata (the form I wrote on recently) baldness begins somewhere on the top of the head. It is most interesting to notice the different patterns of baldness. Sometimes the upper part of the temporal region is first affected, leaving a little tongue of hair down the center of the forehead. Sometimes it begins on the front hair line and goes back, and sometimes it begins in front and at the back at the same time, leaving a bridge across.

The hair is usually left on the lower part of the temples and around in the region above the neck. Now why should this top part of the head be afflicted with baldness and not the other regions?

I have seen no satisfactory explanation in anything that I have studied, and my own conclusions are as follows: As the years advance there is a general sagging of the muscles, unless measures are taken to prevent it. The scalp muscles sag as do other muscles, and as they sag they draw the scalp tight down on the cranium. The blood vessels in the lower temporal regions and in the regions above the neck are fairly large, but they branch and grow smaller and smaller towards the top of the head. This tightening of the scalp is sufficient to automatically shut off these comparatively small blood vessels supplying the top of the scalp. The little nipple-like projections in the hair follicles—the hair papillae—from which the hairs grow, flatten out, shrivel and die from lack of nourishment.

It is thought that one of the chief reasons women do not get bald as often as men is because there is normally a little deeper cushion of fat under their skins than there is in men. This deeper cushion of fat protects the blood vessels in the scalp and, therefore, a woman's hair follicles are longer nourished.

If this fact of the scalp tissues sagging, thus cutting off the blood supply, is kept in mind, the reasons for the daily deep brushing and massage of the scalp and the pulling of the hair to bring a good supply of blood to the hair follicles will be better appreciated. And remember, this daily care is going to prevent the dandruff which attacks the hair follicles from the outside.

Now what can be done for alopecia senilis or the baldness of advancing years? Nothing! When this type of baldness is established, according to all the opinions of those who have made a deep study of the subject, it is hopeless. So the thing to do, obviously, is to prevent its coming and to prevent its further progress if it has already arrived. Begin today.

The virtue of most of the so-called hair "tonics" consists in the massage you use in applying them and their antiseptic properties. Pilocarpin is the only drug that has shown any special influence on hair growth. An antiseptic formula containing pilocarpin is that of Sabouraud. It is as follows:

Pilocarpin muriat	7 grains
Rose water	2 ounces
Alcohol	6 ounces
Ether	6 drams
Spirits of lavender	6 drams

This is to be well rubbed into the scalp morning and night.

The daily cleansing and stimulation of the scalp by deep brushing, massage and hair pulling, such as I outlined to you in a previous paper, is of more importance, however, than the remedy. Don't forget that. And don't forget that the proper nutrition, with its adequate supply of green leaf vegetables, fruits and milk, for vitamins, mineral salts and complete protein, is also of supreme importance.

This article completes our series on baldness. Seems to me I have given our b. h. friends quite a fair deal, don't you think so? Well, I like 'em. Still, they would undoubtedly be more effective with the natural head adornment. Not the artificial kind! Especially those heavy toupees. I believe somewhat with Martial, who said over nineteen hundred years ago: "There is nothing more humorous than a bald man who pretends to have hair." Only he said contemptible. That's too strong.

BOY'S MIND PUZZLES DOCTORS

Six-Year-Old Youth Called "Killer Maniac"

Clyde Maxam in the arms of his mother

He is a bad boy, but not all of the time. Clye Maxam, 6, of Milwaukee, is called the "killer maniac." One moment he may be a demon, the next he is angelic. Clyde has frequently attempted to harm his mother and father with dangerous weapons, and has even surreptitiously turned on the gas to try to kill his parents. Alienists are examining him to determine if his ailment is curable. Several have already pronounced his case hopeless.

Heart and Home Problems

By MRS. ELIZABETH THOMPSON

TOO YOUNG

Dear Mrs. Thompson:—I am 19 years old and I am in love with a girl 16. She says she loves me with all her heart. She is all right when we are out together.

Sunday afternoon I went to see her and she went to bed about 4:30. I went back that night and asked what made her do that and she said she didn't know. Do you think she loves me?

We have been keeping steady company for a year and she doesn't go with anyone else. She doesn't stay at home. She stays in a hotel and the lady is her guardian. Do you think that is why she acted that way?

We are supposed to get married in two years. Do you think that is too long to wait

EAF MINNOW.

You have not told enough about the way the girl acts to make it possible for me to judge the extent of her love for you. If you think she is indifferent and only seems to love you when you take her places, but does not enjoy your calls, you have reason to doubt her affection for you. Since both of you are so young, two years is not too long for you to wait to be married.

BOBBED HAIR

Dear Mrs. Thompson:—I am thinking of bobbing my hair, but some tell me it is going out of style. Please give me your advice. When a girl is walking with a married couple, what should their position be? ANXIOUS.

I do not believe bobbed hair will go out of style soon. Women have learned the freedom of short hair, and they will not be willing to go back to long hair any more than men would be willing to do so. The man should walk next to the street. The position of the ladies does not matter.

TROUBLESOME HUSBAND

Dear Mrs. Thompson:—I want to ask you what you would do if you had a husband like mine? He doesn't come home very early at night. He really doesn't care what time he gets home. I have to wait supper for him, and I have a family of seven howling around, they are so hungry.

Sometimes he is intoxicated and sometimes he isn't. He never gives me money except five dollars a week. That isn't enough for nine people to eat on and get dressed on, too. Is it?

He also likes another lady and gives her attention in my company. Shall I get a divorce or run away? How should we divide the children? Should I have all of them? MRS. Z.

You are too good to your husband. When your meals are ready, serve them, and let him scold and storm if he wants to when he returns and finds he is too late for dinner. He may learn to arrive on time when he expects to eat. I would not advise you to get him something to eat when he does come in unless he has a good excuse for staying away. Of course such treatment will necessitate a lot of courage on your part, and an indifference to the scolding which will follow. Since your husband fails to support you and the children and comes home intoxicated, you could probably get a divorce easily. If the court gave you custody of the children he would have to contribute to their support. I would advise you to talk the matter over with an attorney if you feel that a divorce is what you want. You would gain little by running away and would lose your peace of mind, thinking that you had deserted your children.

"I know absolutely nothing about sweetbreads," writes a young housekeeper, "please tell me what they are, and how to cook them."

A sweetbread is the thymus gland of the calf or lamb, but the sweetbread of the calf, only, is considered for cooking. It is prenatally developed, and after the calf is taken from liquid food it disappears. It consists of two parts connected by tubing and membranes; for this reason it is often referred to as "a pair of sweetbreads." The round part is called the "heart sweetbread" (because it lies nearest the heart) and the other part is called the "throat sweetbread."

Because sweetbreads spoil so easily, they should be put into cold water as soon as received from the butcher, and allowed to stand in this water for an hour or more. Then drain and put them into a saucepan with boiling water to cover; add one-half teaspoon of vinegar and a pinch of salt to this boiling water and let simmer for 20 minutes to "parboil" them. At the end of this boiling period, drain the sweetbreads and once more put them into cold water, to harden them. These steps are always taken with sweetbreads, no matter how you intend to prepare them for the table.

Broiled Sweetbreads: After following above directions, split the sweetbreads lengthwise, sprinkle them with pepper and salt, brush with melted butter, and broil till delicately browned. Serve hot with either Bechamel sauce or melted butter and lemon juice.

Breaded Sweetbreads: This is perhaps the most popular way of serving them. Split the parboiled sweetbreads in half lengthwise, sprinkle with salt, pepper and lemon juice, then dip in fine bread crumbs, in beaten raw egg, and once more in bread crumbs. Fry to a light brown in deep fat which is hot enough to brown a small piece of bread in less than a minute. Serve at once with tartare sauce—or just plain.

Creamed Sweetbreads: After parboiling cut the sweetbreads into very small bits, add one cup of medium thick white sauce (made from sweet milk, flour and butter in the ordinary way). Season with one-half teaspoon of salt and let boil up for a moment before serving hot on buttered toast.

BEAUTY CHATS

by EDNA KENT FORBES

FACE MASSAGE

The chief value of massage is that it stimulates the circulation of the blood through the skin. As blood brings life this tones up a sluggish skin, helps eliminate wrinkles, helps remove unnatural fatty deposits and greatly improves the texture of the skin itself. The massage is more effective if done with a cleansing agent such as cream, because it works the cream well into the skin and works out much dirt and foreign substance which have no business there

Ordinary rubbing here and there over the skin is no good. You must know something about the muscles of the face. What I would like to suggest for wrinkles and sagging muscles is not ordinary massage, but what is called "moulding" at some establishments.

Begin at the neck and stroke upwards five times using the four fingers of each hand. Then use only the two middle fingers of each hand and begin on the chin, stroking upwards and outwards, gradually lengthening the strokes until they go out well towards the ears over the lower part of the cheeks. Then with the right hand stroke directly upwards from the left shoulder over the neck and upwards in front of the ear.

Now begin again at the bridge of the nose. Stroke out over the cheeks to the cheekbones. Next, place the two fingers under the lower lip, stroke outwards around the mouth and up over the nostril. This lifts the sagging muscles at the corner of the mouth where the first wrinkles form. Vary this stroke by passing across the corner of the mouth and upward over the cheeks so that each stroke ends just above the ear.

This moulding massage follows certain well known sets of muscles

Tomorrow we will continue with the massage of the eyes and the forehead.

Hattie B.—Massage your legs using cocoa butter which will help to nourish the tissues. If you are underweight build up and this will also help your trouble.

Ollie.—Ask your doctor to suggest the name of the surgeon who specializes in changing the shape of the nose.

F. F. B., Rose Bud.—A red nose is usually caused through faulty circulation, and often this is due to poor elimination. The cure will have to come from correcting the difficulty at its source. Eyeglasses that press, or tight clothing will also cause red noses, but you can avoid these causes easily.

Proper Massage is Stimulating

This requires considerable time, however, owing to the great number received. With the Women of Today

By MRS. LILIAN CAMPBELL

Edith Ackley (Mrs. Floyd Ackley) of New York City is a maker of dolls. She started to make rag dolls for her younger sisters when she was a little girl. When her own little girl came she quite naturally made dolls for her. Her dolls were such clever caricatures of celebrities that quite often she was asked to make them for her friends. Thus her business has grown so that now she has the bodies of the dolls made for her but does art work—paints the faces and makes all the clothes—which is the inspiration of the moment.

The League of Nations employs about 350 persons as secretaries, the proportion of men and women being about equal. The chief librarian is a woman, Miss Florence Wilson, formerly of Columbia University, U. S. A. She organized the library at Columbia and for the National Committee of Mental Hygiene in New York. She was the only woman of the American Peace Commission in Paris, where she did some important historical and documentary work.

Hon. Mrs. John Fortescue, London court dressmaker, who, with her husband recently visited America says she was misquoted by an interviewer. Writing to a friend here she said that she had met with the greatest kindness from American women and was anxious to have them know what her real views are.

"I think the American woman is the smartest in the world," she wrote. "Easily the smartest, for she attends to details far more than we do. I found American women very receptive to new ideas and most appreciative of line and color. They have the advantage of a far less uncertain climate than we have, and can therefore dress more elaborately than we who live in constant fear of having our toilettes ruined by a sudden downpor of rain.

"Also, as we know that of thirteen million cars in the world, ten million are in America, it is obvious that there are many more American women who can drive to their engagements than English women, who are, so many of them, obliged to use tubes and busses and must therefore dress more simply."

POEMS That LIVE

TIME AND GRIEF

O Time! who know'st a lenient hand to lay
Softest on sorrow's wound, and slowly thence (Lulling to sad repose the weary sense)
The faint pang stealest unperceived away;
On thee I rest my only hope at last,
And think, when thou hast dried the bitter tear
That flows in vain o'er all my soul held dear,
I may look back on every sorrow past,
And meet life's peaceful evening with a smile;
As some lone bird, at day's departing hour,
Sings in the sunbeam of the transient shower,
Forgetful, though its wings are wet the while:—
Yet ah! how much must this poor heart endure,
Which hopes from thee, and thee alone, a cure!

WANT ACTION ON CLASS 'C' LEAGUE

Kerwin, in Conference with Head of Coast Loop, Seeks Sanction

Frank Kerwin, owner of the White Sox, is in conference with Harry Williams, president of the Pacific Coast league, this afternoon, regarding the delayed decision of that circuit as to whether the clubs would support a Class C league, which if formed, would include Glendale.

About three weeks ago Williams asked for a telegraphic vote on the question, and to date has not been able to give Kerwin, Josh Clarke or Mike Cantillon, who are backing the loop, any definite answer.

"It appears to me," said Kerwin yesterday, "that they are stalling us along to keep us from getting started this year. In fact, one of the owners told me personally that they would back us to the limit if we would wait until next year. I tried to convince him that we were ready to shoot, and were anxious to get away at once.

Delayed by League

"The trouble is that they will not come out definitely and say to go ahead. Los Angeles is the only club that has any territorial rights invaded, and Glendale and Long Beach would harm the Angels just as much with independent ball as they would with a Class C team."

Kerwin says he is beginning to realize more and more that the way of the baseball organizer is hard. There are a thousand and one details to see to, and it is extremely difficult owing to the fact that they do not want to go ahead too far until they receive the sanction of the National association, and this will not be given until the Coast league approves of the new circuit. If the owners in the Coast league withhold their support much longer the scheme will be automatically abandoned, as it will be too late to get going this year.

Meanwhile Kerwin is besieged with applications for the use of the White Sox park on San Fernando road. He has just about closed a deal whereby the newly organized K. C. team will play early on Sunday, probably starting at 12:30 o'clock in order that the Sox may have the diamond at 2:30 o'clock.

Many semi-pro teams are clamoring for the opportunity to use the park on Saturday afternoons, and the lacrosse people have been casting glances that way for the scene of their conflicts.

With the recent rains on the grass in the outfield and the sodded part of the diamond taking on a new lease of life, it begins to look more like a big league park every day.

STANFORD TEAMS TO PLAY AT L. A.

Students Will Follow Track, Baseball and Fencing Squads on Tour

Adjourning university work for the spring vacation, a large portion of Stanford students will be in Los Angeles for the Stanford week held there from March 22 to 29. The majority of Stanford students are drawn from the southland, and will gather in the southern metropolis when the Stanford baseball, track and fencing teams compete with southern rivals. During the week the Stanford Glee club, a high class musical aggregation, will be careening at the Ambassador, and will contribute to the social life of the vacation period.

The Stanford fencing team will travel to Los Angeles by automobile to meet the team of the Los Angeles Athletic club on Wednesday March 26. Coming down through the San Joaquin valley, the baseball team will play twice with the University of Southern California at Los Angeles, on Friday, March 28 and the day following. On March 29, Stanford alumni, students and friends will gather in an alumni party, at which it is hoped Glenn Warner, new Stanford football mentor, will be present.

The Stanford track team will meet that of the University of Southern California on March 29 as well. The Trojans have made a great revival in track activity this spring. So have "Dink" Templeton's charges from "The Farm," and the contest should be worth watching.

The baseball team, as it comes down the valley to Los Angeles will play the Bakersfield Standard Oil team at Bakersfield on March 26. The baseball game with U. S. C. at Los Angeles will finish the Stanford-U. S. C. series, which begins with a game at Stanford on March 24.

SEVEN TO BATTLE FOR SPEED TITLE

Haugdahl to Meet De Palma, Horey, Lecklider, Duray, Meyer and Frame

Sig Haugdahl, noted Norwegian speed king, who was trimmed by Ralph DePalma at Ascot last Sunday, must start at the bottom and work up, says George Bentel.

"When Haugdahl shows that he has a machine that will give Ralph's eight-in-a-row Miller a fight, then I am ready to book him again if the champion wishes," he said.

Haugdahl's showing was so disappointing that he is not being given much of a chance in the big race next Sunday. But the razzing that the Norwegian got was largely undeserved. He had been forced to throw a car together in three days to agree to the terms of the race and his only fault was that in his quest for dollars he allowed himself to be jockeyed into an impossible position. Sig can drive, says Bentel and when he gets a fast car, look out.

Seven To Compete

"No person appreciates the great ability of Haugdahl more than I do," said Bentel. "I know what he has done and what he can do, but just now he is in the position that Ralph DePalma found himself in when he lost the Ascot opening day races to Lecklider and Horey. His car was not right and his superb ability counted for naught. Next Sunday Haugdahl will drive in competition at Ascot against DePalma, Horey, Lecklider, Duray, Meyer and Frame.

"If 'Hug' disposes of DePalma and the rest of the field he can then force DePalma to meet him in a two-car event to re-win the laurel wreath he lost yesterday. If Haugdahl cannot stem the DePalma speed tide it will be necessary for us to bring another European or eastern star here to lick the Italian.

"However, the racing fans do not want to overlook the fact that Leon Duray has not been defeated at Ascot. The big Frenchman claims he has never extended his 183 inch Miller. The noise made over the Haugdahl and DePalma match overshadowed Duray's great work during the past two Sundays."

Colgate's Schedule at Lacrosse Announced

HAMILTON, N. Y., March 19,—Featuring the Colgate lacrosse schedule announced by Manager Harley Brainard will be a match with the Orange in Syracuse on May 8 and a contest with the Harvard twelve, in one of the feature athletic events of the Junior Prom on May 17.

Harvard and Union are appearing for the first time on a Colgate lacrosse schedule, but the other teams have been met in former years. In addition to the regular schedule, matches probably will be arranged with St. Lawrence and Syracuse at Hamilton, with Cornell a possibility also. Eight letter men were lost by graduation, consequently Colonel Ballantine, Maroon lacrosse coach, has a real problem on his hands to develop a winning aggregation. Captain Goodelle, ex-Captain Cygil, F. H. McNair, R. M. Ernest, N. T. Feardsley, C. A. Knight, J. H. Rathbone and J. J. Corell are the men missing from last year's squad.

W. S. Childs, H. R. Hamilton, K. Rr. Erdmin, J. B. Mullan, W. C. McConnell and W. R. Patterson are the letter men remaining from last year's team.

The freshman class is reputed to have many good lacrosse players, and Coach Ballantine will be compelled to rely upon material from that source.

The schedule for the 1924 season follows: April 26, Hobart at Geneva; May 3, Union at Schenectady; May 8, Syracuse at Syracuse; May 21, Army at West Point; May 18, Harvard at Hamilton, and matches with Syracuse at Hamilton, Cornell and St. Lawrence.

Dempsey Assailed in Address by Senator

WASHINGTON, Mar. 19.—Jack Dempsey, world's heavyweight champion, was called a "slacker" in the Senate yesterday by Senator Caraway, Democrat of Arkansas, during a speech denouncing the federal officials for viewing the Dempsey-Carpentier prize fight pictures at the home of Edward B. McLean here in July, 1921.

Dempsey was assailed during Caraway's verbal tirade against the late President Harding, Secretary of State Hughes, Postmaster-General New and other officials of the administration who saw the film. All of them he denounced as "law violators."

BIBLE TEACHER FIGHT PROMOTER

Denver Boy Develops His Class Along Physical, Spiritual Lines

By MICHAEL F. DACEY
For International News Service

DENVER, Mar. 19.—Goliath and David, prominent feudists of Biblical times, are credited with being the world's first exponents of self-defense; but Leslie Showers, Denver Bible student, has the distinction of being the first modern youth to perform in the dual role of professional boxing promoter and Sunday school teacher.

With the Bible in one hand and a set of eight-ounce mitts in the other, Showers is inculcating into the minds of his Bible class the principles of Christianity, as well as the manly art of self-defense as contained in the Marquis of Queensberry formula.

Showers has just concluded what is believed to be the first combination prayer meeting-amateur boxing tournament in the history of America.

Large Crowds Attend

"Opening the shows" with an invocation and readings of passages from the Bible, Showers conducted a series of elimination boxing matches at the Merritt Memorial Methodist Episcopal Church here that were attended by large crowds, including women.

Joseph Cianio, who is going to pursue a ring career under the name of Joey Showers, a youthful Italian-American, proved to be the classiest youngster turned out in the church tournament. He is a 105-pound boy, and Young Corbett, former featherweight champion of the world, who has been one of Promoter Shower's advisers, declares that Joey is destined for a high place in the pugilistic world.

In addition to attending classes in the Iliff School of Theology here, Leslie Showers finds time to encourage boxing among his Sunday school pupils and also, with Tommy Eddy, of Denver, handles a stable of professional boxers, including Harry Bramer, Tommy Commiskey, George Hanley and others.

Showers' activities with the "money boys" enable him to pay his tuition at the theological seminary, and he plans to enter the ministry after his academic course is completed. He has served as a Boy Scout field executive and as a "Y" secretary. His home is in Joplin, Mo.

TRAINING CAMP NEWS

Report from southern training camps indicate that players are reducing weight and club owners are reducing size of bankroll. Magnates will spend thousands in frantic effort to uncover new specimens for annual ivory exhibition.

Roosevelt went all the way to Africa to look for ivory, but nowadays you can find plenty of it at any baseball camp.

Last of holdouts are now in line. When call of the diamond lured them they turned barnyard chores over to hired man and came back into the fold.

Recruits are entranced by southern scenery. Those who don't like it will soon learn to, because most of them will be there all summer.

Rookies now have batting averages larger than an alderman's pajamas, but against big league pitching figures will shrink to size of giraffe's collar.

Old married players are not losing sleep because of promising recruits. With the manager razzing them all day and their wives nagging them all night, they don't get a chance to worry without losing their jobs.

But managers like to have players bring wives along on spring trips. A man who has to dodge vases and shoes all evening is bound to round into shape.

Judge Landis traveled from New York to Louisiana to see Athletics lose exhibition game. In Philly the fans won't walk around the block to see 'em win.

Only weakness Yanks have this season is strawberry blondes.

Manager of Senators says he's building for the future. He's got enough dead wood on hand to build a stadium.

Some leagues need extra box score for errors of umps.

Reconstruction in the South is bothering Davy Bancroft more than it did the Republicans after the Civil War.

Box score of Giant's practice games looks like returns from a Liberty Loan drive.

Report from South says Judge Landis picked oranges at training camps. Lemons were all picked by managers.

STATZ TWISTS KNEE

AVALON, Catalina Island, Cal., March 19.—Arnold Statz suffered a twisted knee that spread some alarm in the Cub camp. It will keep the speedy outfielder out a few days.

MERCHANTS WANT ANOTHER CHANCE

'Winner-Take-All' Basis to Govern Sunday's Game With White Sox

So sure are the Pasadena Merchants that the ten inning victory of the Sox last Sunday was a fluke that they have offered to play them again on a "winner-take-all" basis. Kerwin jumped at the chance, so they will battle again next Sunday afternoon at the San Fernando road park, with the entire gate as the prize.

Lefty Thomas, who looked like a big leaguer for seven innings last week, only to get smeared in the eighth, will attempt to go the entire route for the visitors, while the Sox will have Thornton, crack U. S. C. hurler, on the mound. Joe Lewis for the Sox and Bill Haas for the Merchants will handle the catching assignment.

Should Draw Crowd

If the last struggle between these two teams is any criterion they should pack the park next week. The Sox came from behind in the eighth and batted in six runs, enough to tie the score, and then won out in the tenth.

Sawyer has the youngsters out during the week working out, and Thornton says his arm is in better shape as the result of the work he has had with the Sox.

Glendale Ave. Trims Burbank Pastimers

The Senior baseball team of Glendale avenue school defeated a visiting team of boys from the public school of Burbank in a game Tuesday afternoon on the Glendale avenue diamond, with a score of 7 to 3.

LAST OF ANGELS' HOLDOUTS SIGNS

Babe Twombly Capitulates As Fatter Pay Check Is Approved by Krug

Babe Twombly, last of the Angel "holdouts," followed the lead of Wally Hood, his garden mate, yesterday, and signed a Seraph contract. As he laid down the pen, Marty Krug heaved a sigh of relief and settled at least a foot deeper in his chair.

Babe was the last one to come in, with the exception of Pitcher Wayne Wright, secured in the St. Louis deal. Wright is held at home by the illness of his wife, so is not classed as a holdout. Marty thinks he will report as soon as the condition of his wife permits.

Classy Outfield

The Angel boss thinks that with Durst, Wood and Twombly in the outfield he has the class of the league. Each one is fast and hits well over the .300 mark. He is so sweet on them that he compares them favorably with many of the major league outfield combinations.

Babe had been holding out for a raise in salary. The figure he closed at was not made pubilc, but it is understood to be well in advance of his weekly envelope last year. He reported to the Angel camp at Long Beach this morning.

Branch Tennis Stars Win Conference Title

Southern Branch of the University of California defeated Occidental in their dual tennis tournament staged on the Branch courts yesterday afternoon, 6 to 1, and are now the conference tennis champions. The Cub racket wielders came through the season in excellent shape, winning from Whittier, Redlands, Calteck, Pomona and Oxy.

In the Tiger affair the Cubs lost only the second doubles event. Vargas and Johns being defeated by Boice and Creighton of Oxy after three thrilling sets, 6-8, 6-4, 6-3. The Oxy team had an off day and the whole team showed up poorly. Palmer and Finnell, playing first doubles for the Tigers, threatened destruction to the Houser-Fischer combination and were only defeated after the match had gone to three sets. The score was 6-3, 3-6, 6-4, and even closer than it indicates. The Tigers were leading in the fourth singles, 5 to 3, in the first set, when Raymond broke his racket and had to use a makeshift, and was nosed out, 7-5, 6-4, by Johns of the S. B. U. C. team. Johns played forward on the Branch basketball team and is a coming tennis demon.

Oxy-Trojan Baseball Game Is Called Off

The Occidental vs. University of Southern California baseball game scheduled for this afternoon was called off by mutual agreement. The Tigers were to have made their first appearance before the eyes of the public, but Coach Wilkie Clark decided that he did not want his team to play any games before the conference season opens, except with the Oxy frosh and the prep teams around the neighborhood. Several of the best Tiger ball players are still in training for track and will not be able to come out for baseball until after April 5, which is the date for the conference track meet.

The baseball schedule starts a week later, with Occidental meeting Whittier on the Tiger diamond. There is a considerable change in the looks of the Oxy varsity since practice began four weeks ago. Coach Clark has developed a fast team.

Kearns Would Suffer Loss If Firpo Quits

NEW YORK, Mar. 19.—Jack Kearns, manager of Jack Dempsey, has announced that if Luis Firpo is in earnest in his intention to retire from the ring, it will mean a loss to him of $250,000 alone for a return bout with the heavyweight champion. However, Kearns said he thought Firpo has been misquoted. While no agreement existed, he said, for a return Dempsey-Firpo bout, he was going ahead with arrangements for such a contest.

Rumors, Denials, Alibis

By F. A. GRAHAM

Marty Krug, manager of the Seraphic Angels, will probably play the 1924 season from the bench, according to indications buzzed on the office wee-gee board. Krug's natural position is third base, but Ray Jacobs has proved such a whiz that the wily manager intends to give him free rein there.

* * *

Negotiations are reported under way to purchase a second baseman from the Phillies, name o' Parkinson, who looks good to the Angel bosses. Earnest endeavors will also be made to get a good southpaw pitcher from the big leagues, preferably from the St. Louis Browns. There is at present only one left-hander of promise with the Angels and Krug knows the importance of left-handers against certain clubs in the Coast League. The pitcher of promise mentioned is Arnold Crandall but he may not stick. He lacks league experience and it may be necessary to farm him to some other minor league club for a year or two, even though he shows enough ability to make the coast grade, which has not yet been decided.

Gunther looms as the outstanding contestant for second base and Krug believes he will be able to hold the job if his hitting keeps up to par. Gunther is a youngster, but has showed plenty of gray matter in his work. Krug also plays second when occasion demands, and if the Phillie man is not forthcoming, these two may take a whirl at the bag between them.

* * *

Both the Angels and Vernon Tigers will be much faster this season than last on account of the shakeup they have undergone. Old blood has been replaced almost entirely on the Tiger squad, and the Angels figure to be at least 35 per cent faster, with the addition of several young players. The Angels have for the past few seasons been considered a collection of slow-moving veterans who offset their lack of speed with sagacity. Sometimes, but not consistently. The two clubs figure to draw better at the gate also. The baseball fan likes young blood and will pay his money to watch a losing, hustling team where he will not contribute to a bunch of vets who take things too much for granted and show that it is all in the day's work to them. The Tigers will be popular with their followers this year whether they finish at the top or not, and it is safe to say that they will not, as the team is too new and untried to hit a pennant-winning clip the first year of organization. The Angels have a well-balanced veteran and recruit combination that should land them near the top, but their chances of a 1924 pennant are not any too brilliant, either. The owners of these clubs are building for next year and the one to follow that.

Krug says that Ray Jacobs, his sweet looking third sacker, has perfect form at the plate. Home or dinner, Marty?

In Lyle Bigbee, Durst, and the two holdouts, Hood and Twombly, the Angels have a top-notch outfield, able to hold its own with any in the league. Josh Billings and Butch Byler will make a capable receiving staff. As the situation now stands the Angel pitching staff figures to be Doc Crandall, Myers, Root, Payne, Wright, Hughes, Wallace and possibly Arnold Crandall, the only left-hander in the gang. Roy Hanna and Robertson have not yet shown enough stuff to cinch berths.

Golvin at first will not hit within probably fifty points of the mark of Art Griggs, his predecessor, but will cut down many more drives than Grigg's lumbering gait would permit. Beck and McAuley will be the shortstop officeholders, with the oil on Beck. Mac will make a good utility player.

Standard spring time exclamation —"It was one of the longest hits ever seen at the local park."

The Angels recently spent an idle day on account of rain and some dizzy wag suggested that they play parlor games, entering "robber" as his choice, but none of the boys knew the game and there were no umpires presnt to coach them, so the game was off.

The records say that Paul Berlenbach, the sensational middleweight boxer with a string of twenty-five consecutive knockouts to his credit in little more than a year, was defeated by Jack Delaney. Here is a thought that may not make a hit with the professors, but can anyone prove that it is impossible?—Berlenbach was beaten by psychology, in the form of an inferior complex.

This is nothing new. Plenty of good men have failed at something they should have put over, just from a lack of confidence. This is no asparagus cast at Delaney. He is a good fighter, but good fighters can be beaten. Two days before the match was held Dan Hickey, Berlenbach's manager, gave out a statement that was at once unusual for a manager and destructive to confidence in his protege. Hickey said that he would send Berlenbach after a knockout from the tap of the bell, as he had a suspicion that Delaney might prove too much for his boy if the fight went too long. He intimated that he was afraid and that for the first time in a year Berlenbach might be defeated.

Looked Like Winner

Press stories tell what happened. Delaney knocked Berlenbach out in the fourth round. Reports from the ringside state that for the first two rounds Berlenbach looked to be a sure winner. After that he crumpled under Delaney's smashes until the referee stopped it in the fourth.

Who can say with any degree of assurance that Dan Hickey's fear was not passed to his charge, causing that boxer to doubt his own ability? There are some boxers in the game today who are handicapped by a perpetual inferiority complex and continually lose to men who do not figure to beat them.

There are any number of stories told of men who had not the slightest knowledge of fisticuffs knocking professionals and even champions for souvenir medallions without knowing whom they were tackling. These stories all end the same way—the man who does the knocking is always so dumfounded upon learning who he has knocked that he promptly faints or runs away. Such an instance was actually witnessed by the writer in Stockton several years ago. It happened when the more or less famous Knockout Brown was active and well-known on the Pacific coast.

Brown Knocked Out

Brown was in a grog shop one evening with a crony or two, and another man who had just entered the place took exception to being jostled by Brown, not knowing who Brown was. Some words were exchanged and the stranger reached back to the southern horizon and knocked Brown halfway into the middle of next week. Brown went to the floor dazed and while his friends were assisting him to get on his feet again in the hope of seeing something, some bystander who knew the boxer by sight was so amazed at the temerity of the stranger that he asked him if he knew who he had just knocked down. On learning the truth the stranger knocked the door off the hinges getting out of the place and burned up some good Sacramento pavement putting as much distance between himself and Brown as his legs would stand for.

Knowing the odds, the stranger was afraid, where in ignorance he had been confident and aggressive. The mere mention of a professional's name deprived him of his morale. Needless to say, it was never learned who the stranger was. He never paid another call to make known his identity.

Confidence Needed

Business men will tell you that confidence is one thing that a man must have to succeed, especially a salesman. A salesman who does not believe that he is a good salesman and that his goods are the best is no salesman and would do well to learn the rudiments of pick-and-shovel operating. All men are salesmen, selling themselves. If they don't believe they have the goods, they don't get very far.

Who will say that Berlenbach was not affected by the attitude of his manager, the man who should, above all others, instil confidence in his man? If he was affected by Hickey's attitude, would it not be interesting to witness a return match, with Berlenbach inspired by a more favorable complex?

FIRST EXHIBITION

AUGUSTA, Ga., March 19.—The Tigers were preparing today for the first exhibition game of the season tomorrow with Toronto at Macon. Cobb is suffering from an ailment of the back muscles which will keep him out of uniform for a day or two.

THEATRES

THE GLENDALE

Wallace Beery in "Richard, the Lion-Hearted," from Sir Walter Scott's novel, "The Talisman," shows at the Glendale theatre for the last times today. The story is a Frank Woods production for Associated Authors.

Wallace Beery's characterization of Richard stands out as one of the finest pieces of screen delineation ever drawn, while other members of the cast, including Kathleen Clifford, Marguerite de la Motte, John Bowers, Charles Gerrard, Clarence Geldert, Wilbur Higby and Tully Marshall give equally creditable performances.

"Richard, the Lion-Hearted" was produced on a scale that makes it truly a "spectacle." Massive sets were constructed as a background for the stirring tale that has been an international favorite for long years.

THE GATEWAY

"Woman to Woman," featuring Betty Compson, shows at the Gateway theatre for today only. It is a Selznick distributed feature, directed by Graham Cutts.

The story, which was adapted from Michael Morton's powerful play of the same name, deals with the sacrifices a dainty little French girl makes for the man of her heart and their son. She gives freely with no thought of self nor the hardships she will have to endure, her one idea being that her loved ones shall have the best that life can offer.

It is an appealing picture, and Betty Compson's delineation of the heroine Deloryse, is an artistic triumph. She is gay; she is sad; she is smiling; she is wistful; and every minute of the time she is absolutely natural.

STATE LINES UP TO AID COOLIDGE

President's Supporters Rally Solidly In Race for Nomination

for President Club was effected last night in Huntington Park, according to an announcement from the Los Angeles Coolidge headquarters. Mrs. Porter, R. E. Avery and W. E. Evans were the speakers at this meeting. It is reported that this body has an initial membership of more than 200 persons.

Form Coolidge Club

Coolidge supporters in Santa Barbara county have organized a club and opened headquarters from which an active campaign will be waged. The report from this body states that R. E. Easton is its president, and H. P. Lincoln, treasurer. At the first meeting of this body eight persons were placed on the executive committee. It is reported that sentiment in Santa Barbara county is solid for Calvin Coolidge.

A goal of 2000 members has been set by the Sawtelle Coolidge for President club and it is expected that this number will be enrolled before the first rally of the body on Tuesday evening, March 18th. This club represents Sawtelle, Westgate, Westwood, Palms, West Los Angeles and Soldiers Home.

Coolidge clubs have been formed at Ripon, Lodi, Manteca, Orange Cove and Tracy. Organization of San Luis Obispo club has been effected. John C. Gibson is president and E. Vollmer secretary and treasurer.

Plans are being pushed by the Coolidge campaign directors in California for the organization of several score clubs during the next two weeks. It is expected by the managers that the membership of the clubs already existing will be increased fully 100 per cent.

Questionnaires, sent out by the state Coolidge headquarters in San Francisco, show that President Coolidge will receive almost unanimous support from the clergymen of California. Some 469 questionnaires have been returned to the headquarters during the past two weeks and of these, 349 pledge support to President Coolidge. Of the total returned only three were for Johnson. In the week ending March 15, 149 questionnaires were returned and all were for the President, according to a statement issued by the headquarters.

Of the total returns received seventy clergymen state that they are undecided and fourteen are Democrats. The world court plan is supported by 423 ministers, while 437 pledged themselves to do all in their power to assist in registering the citizens of California prior to April 5 which is the last date which voters may register before the May primary.

EDUCATION BEST SAFEGUARD, SAID

Cut Traffic Accidents by Teaching Children, is Urged In Report

fire drills in the schools have taught the children to make their way out of the buildings in rapid time, and a similar course of education will teach them to exercise proper care in crossing the streets.

President W. E. Hewitt reported that he had had a conference with the engineers in charge of the sewer project and had impressed on them the importance of starting work immediately on the construction of the system. Part of the delay, he had been informed, had been due to a hitch in the right-of-way negotiations with the Southern Pacific company, but Director P. J. Hayselden declared that this detail will be cleared up within a few days, and when this has been done every possible pressure will be brought to bear to have the contracts let at once.

A report from Charles B. Guthrie, chairman of a committee appointed to ask the Pacific Electric to park their cars on North Brand boulevard a greater distance south of Mountain street, reported that the railway officials are now working out a plan by which the cars will be parked in such a manner as to minimize the present danger of automobile accidents at the north terminus of the line.

Work for New Bridge

The report of the highways and bridges committee, as made by Harry E. White, showed that special attention is being paid by the committee to the new bridge that is planned at the south end of Brand boulevard, where it crosses the Los Angeles river, and every effort is being made to obtain improvement in conditions at that point to relieve the traffic congestion between Los Angeles and Glendale. A resolution was also read by Secretary E. F. Sanders, which had been sent to the Los Angeles officials by the Atwater Park Community Improvement association, asking that immediate action be taken to build a new bridge at Los Feliz road.

The widening of San Fernando road was also included in Mr. White's report, and it was stated that prospects for the improvement of this important highway all the way between the north and south Glendale city limits are most favorable. The matter is to be brought to the consideration of the City Planning commission for submission to the City Council, and the members of the committee feel, Mr. White stated, that they have every reason to feel optimistic over the early success of their plans to have San Fernando road widened to a uniform width along its entire length, to correspond with the work that is being done on other sections of the highway in other parts of the valley.

The highways and bridges committee was also instructed to take steps to have the debris left from the recent run-off cleared from Verdugo road.

Signs of Crossing

The erection of better signs at the Gardena avenue crossing on South Brand boulevard was advocated by Director P. J. Hayselden, in order that motorists may be warned in time to make the right hand turn at that point and so avoid driving against the southbound traffic and thus laying themselves open to arrest for violations of the traffic laws. It was felt by the board that many unintentional violations of the law occur at this point, especially on the part of strangers, and the civics committee will present a resolution to the City Council asking that some change be inaugurated in the handling of traffic at this crossing.

A meeting will be arranged, to be held before the end of this month, between the special Chamber of Commerce committee, the board of education and the High school trustees, to consider the establishment of a Union High school and the consolidation of the existing school systems.

Secretary Sanders was instructed to send a letter of condolence to W. B. Kirk on the death of Mrs. Kirk, and also to send flowers to be placed on the casket when the funeral services are held.

Five new members were admitted to the organization last night.

In tribute to the memory of the late Mrs. Andrew McIntyre, a charter member of the club, the club company stood for a moment in silence.

Program By Smallman

John Smallman, talented baritone, who is winning a wide circle of friends in Glendale through his direction of the presentation of Mendelssohn's oratorio, "Elijah," was the artist giving the club program yesterday afternoon, and the clubwomen gave him a hearty greeting and were loath to bid him farewell.

Assisted by Lorna Gregg, pianist, he gave a wonderful program, as only an artist of his talent can give, and his appearance will stand out as one of the feature programs of the club year.

His program included compositions by Handel, Rachmaninoff, Szule, Dalroze, Brockway, Holmes, Gretchaninoff, Boott, Mrs. Hennion Robinson, Whitney Coombs, Cadman, Faith Foster, a Belgian folk song by Deems Taylor, a negro spiritual, a Mexican folk song, and a group of Chinese Mother Goose rhymes by Bainbridge Crist.

RELIEF FROM BURNS

Even careful housewives, as well as children, will often burn or scald themselves. Therefore it is well to keep in a handy place a jar filled with picric acid. Place into it pieces of gauze of different sizes. When you have scalded yourself place a piece of the gauze over the burned spot and relief is instantaneous.
